Slimming Below the Belt

THE woman who is content with her figure is as hard to find as the woman who is content with her husband's income. It may please her in some directions, but she is certain to find fault in others. I have yet to meet the woman who will admit that she is pleased with her hips.

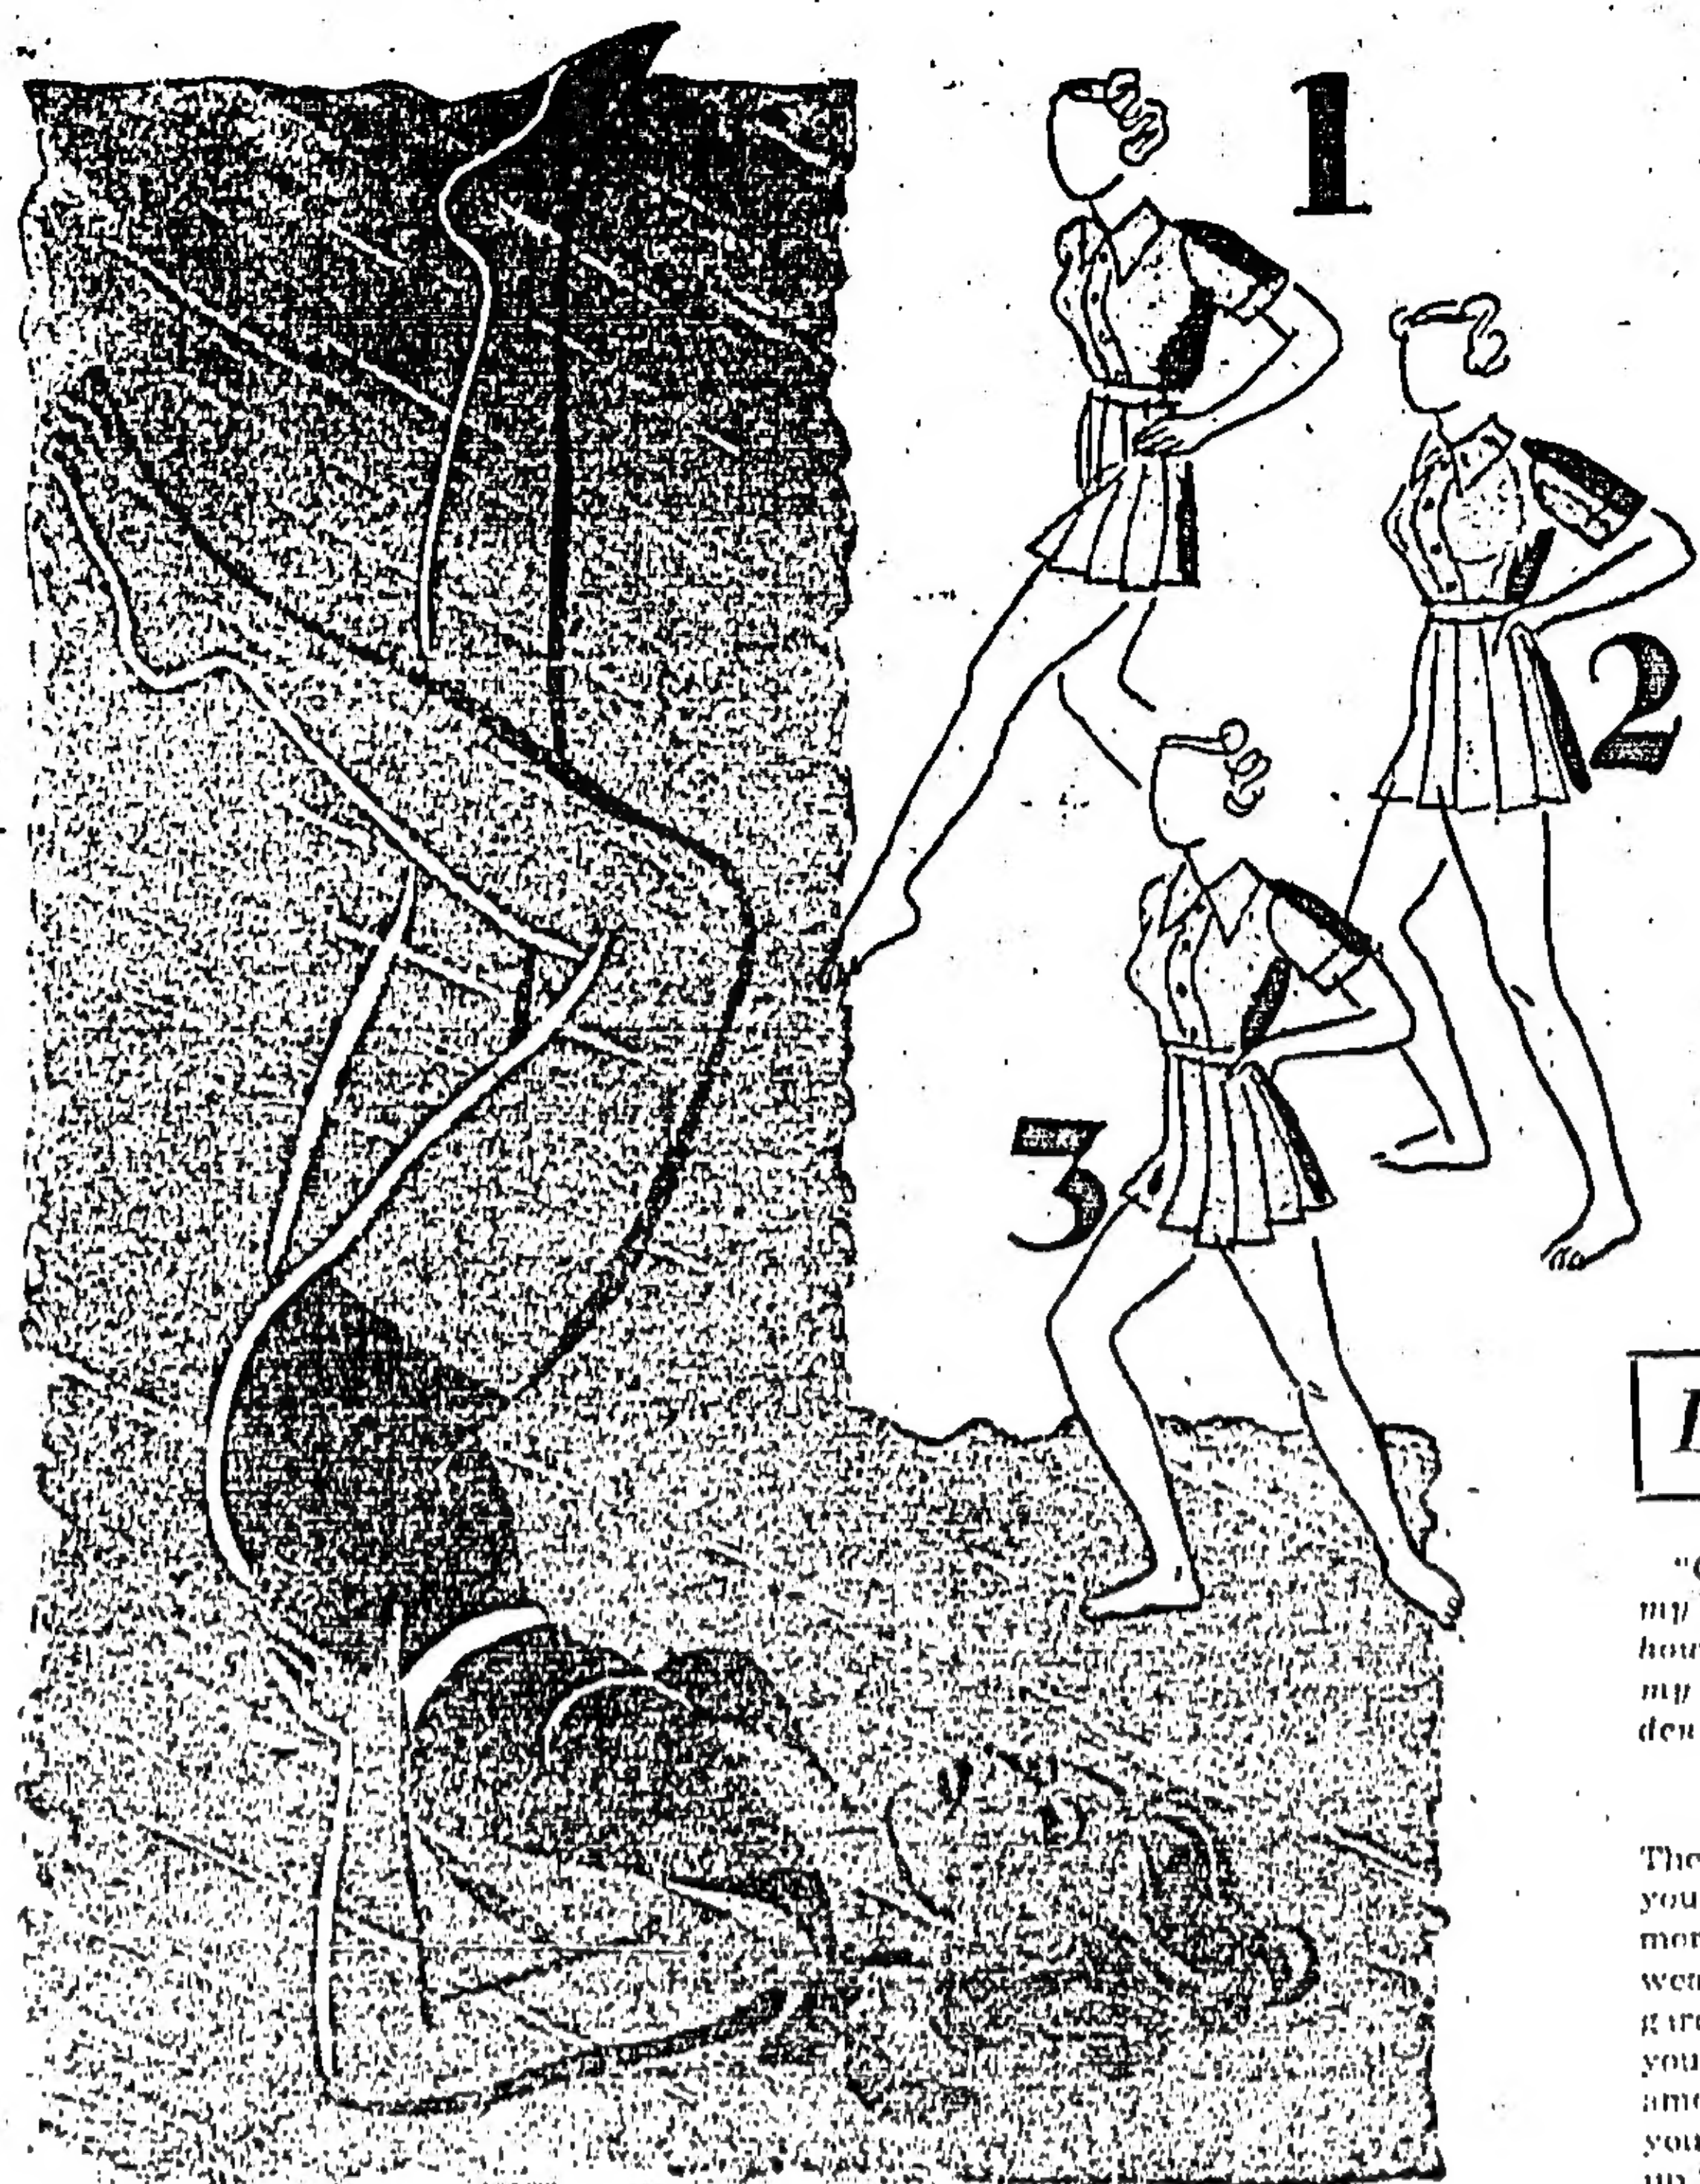

If you yourself are one of the many thousands who hanker to reduce from waist to knees, the best thing is to give yourself a combined treatment of exercise and reducing lotion. And right now, before I go on with this subject, I wish to make one very serious remark, and it is this. Exercises should never be undertaken by women who have any kind of heart trouble or those who have undergone surgical operations.

I have had a number of letters from readers asking me to recommend various reducing exercises. Then, tucked away in some corner of the letter is an admission that they have had this or that operation, and the horrible thought enters my head that they might not have admitted to the operation and that I would have recommended the exercise which would have been possibly extremely bad for them. Therefore, if you have heart trouble, or you have had an operation and you are not satisfied with your figure, the person to consult is your doctor, and the probability is that you need correct support in the way of specially constructed corsets.

NOW to get back to the ordinary hale and hearty woman. Three good and simple exercises are as follows: "Stand erect, heels about two inches apart, arms out at shoulder height. Swing the right arm downwards until the fingers touch the back of the left knee, then swing the left arm downwards until the fingers touch the back of the right knee. Continue for two or three minutes."

Next lie on the floor and roll the lower part of your body, first as far to the right and then as far to the left as possible. Do this for two minutes.

For the third exercise lie straight on the floor, slip your hands under your back so that they are supporting you each side at the lower part of your spine, raise your feet in the air and pedal as hard as you can, like the lady in Angrave's drawing, lifting your back as high as possible with your arms. This is a strenuous exercise and should only be undertaken by women who are under 30 years of age and sound in mind and limb.

"Can you tell me how to prevent my finger-nails from breaking, also how to whiten the hands. I do all my own housework and some gardening."

YOU need to keep your nails filed short and rounded. There is a special iodine oil which you can rub into the nails night and morning. You should, of course, wear gloves for both housework and gardening, and before you wash your hands rub in a generous amount of liquid paraffin, which you can get from any chemist made up for toilet purposes. Rub this well in, then wash with a good soap and warm water. You will find the stickiness from the paraffin disappears with the washing. Rub in a good hand lotion afterwards.

"I am seeking your advice on how to slim. I am 25 years old and weigh 12 stone. I have tried dieting, but have failed. I cannot seem to find time for exercise. Even in the summer I do not seem to lose any weight at all. If you could help me in this matter I should be very grateful."

SOME diets are more efficient than others but if you have not lost a sufficient amount of weight, you should consult your doctor and ask him to prescribe for you. If, however, dieting fails, the only thing I can suggest is a reducing soap.

HERE are some good leg exercises: Stand erect, shoulders well back, heels two inches apart, and rise slowly to the toes, then lower yourself just as slowly back again to appear with the washing. Rub in a the heels. This develops and rounds out the calves of the legs, reduces the ankles and strengthens the arches.

The next exercise is called the toe circle, and the three positions are illustrated in the small numbered sketches. Take the same position, standing erect, heels two inches apart, and slide the right foot as far out in front of the body as possible, keeping the ball of the foot on the floor (Fig. 1). Sweep the foot round in a wide semi-circle (Fig. 2) until the toes are far back of the left heel (Fig. 3); without raising the foot from the floor slide it forward to the starting point. Repeat 20 times, then reverse. Do the same exercise with the left leg.

IF you want to make yourself a reducing lotion at home, this can be done by shaving up two squares of camphor, adding it to one pint of surgical spirit, which you can get from the chemist. Keep this bottled for 48 hours, then use it by dabbing on with a pad of cotton wool twice a day. This can be used for every part of the body except the face and the chest.

Quenchers from Canada

The following recipes are delightful suggestions from Canada which make successful drinks for thirsty English people.

Frosted Cocoa

4 tablespoonful cocoa syrup,
3 cups milk,
2 large scoops vanilla ice cream.
Place all together in cocktail shaker or large glass server, shake well, serve at once in tall glasses. More ice cream may be served in each glass if desired. This quantity will serve four.

Iced Tea

6 teaspoonful tea, Lemon slices,
4 cups water, Tea ice cubes,
Sugar syrup.

CREAMS

THESSE sweets are always welcome in summer-time, and they are very simple to prepare. All you want is a pint of cream, three-quarters of a pint of ordinary boiled custard, sugar, and half an ounce of gelatine. Creams are best made in a refrigerator, but if you have not one, in hot weather you must add rather more gelatine.

Coffee cream is made by using milk and coffee mixed as you like, and chocolate cream by adding an ounce of chocolate when making your custard. For example:

Chocolate Cream

Make a boiled custard (three-quarters of a pint) with the addition of an ounce of chocolate. Let the custard get quite cold, then add the all of cream (which should be half-whipped), and sweeten it to taste. Now add your half-ounce of gelatine dissolved in a little water, stir in a basin of cold water until the cream begins to set, then mould it. If you like, you can add the gelatine first to the cold custard, sweeten it, and when it just begins to set fold in the half-whipped cream and mould it.

Other Flavours

You can make a cream flavoured with vanilla or some other flavouring, and add small dice of banana, pineapple, pieces cherries or ginger, and these fruits should be added (about two ounces for the quantities given above) in the first case before the gelatine is added, and in the second case afterwards.

Pour freshly boiled water over tea, allow to stand five minutes, pour into tall glasses, serve at once with tea ice cubes and slices of lemon. Sugar syrup may be added if desired, also a sprig of mint.

Loganberry Tip
Mix in a pitcher 2 cups of juice from loganberries, ½ cup of pineapple juice, juice of 3 lemons sweetened to taste. Let chill ½ hour and add 2 cups of siphon soda water.

Angel Flip
Fill glass one-third full of cracked ice and mint leaves, pour over this grape fruit juice, stir to melt ice, then place on top whipped cream, sweetened and flavoured with almond extract.

Mystery Cucumber Float

1½ cups orange juice,
½ cup lemon juice,
½ cup grenadine,
1½ cups pineapple juice,
1 cucumber,
1 quart dry ginger ale.

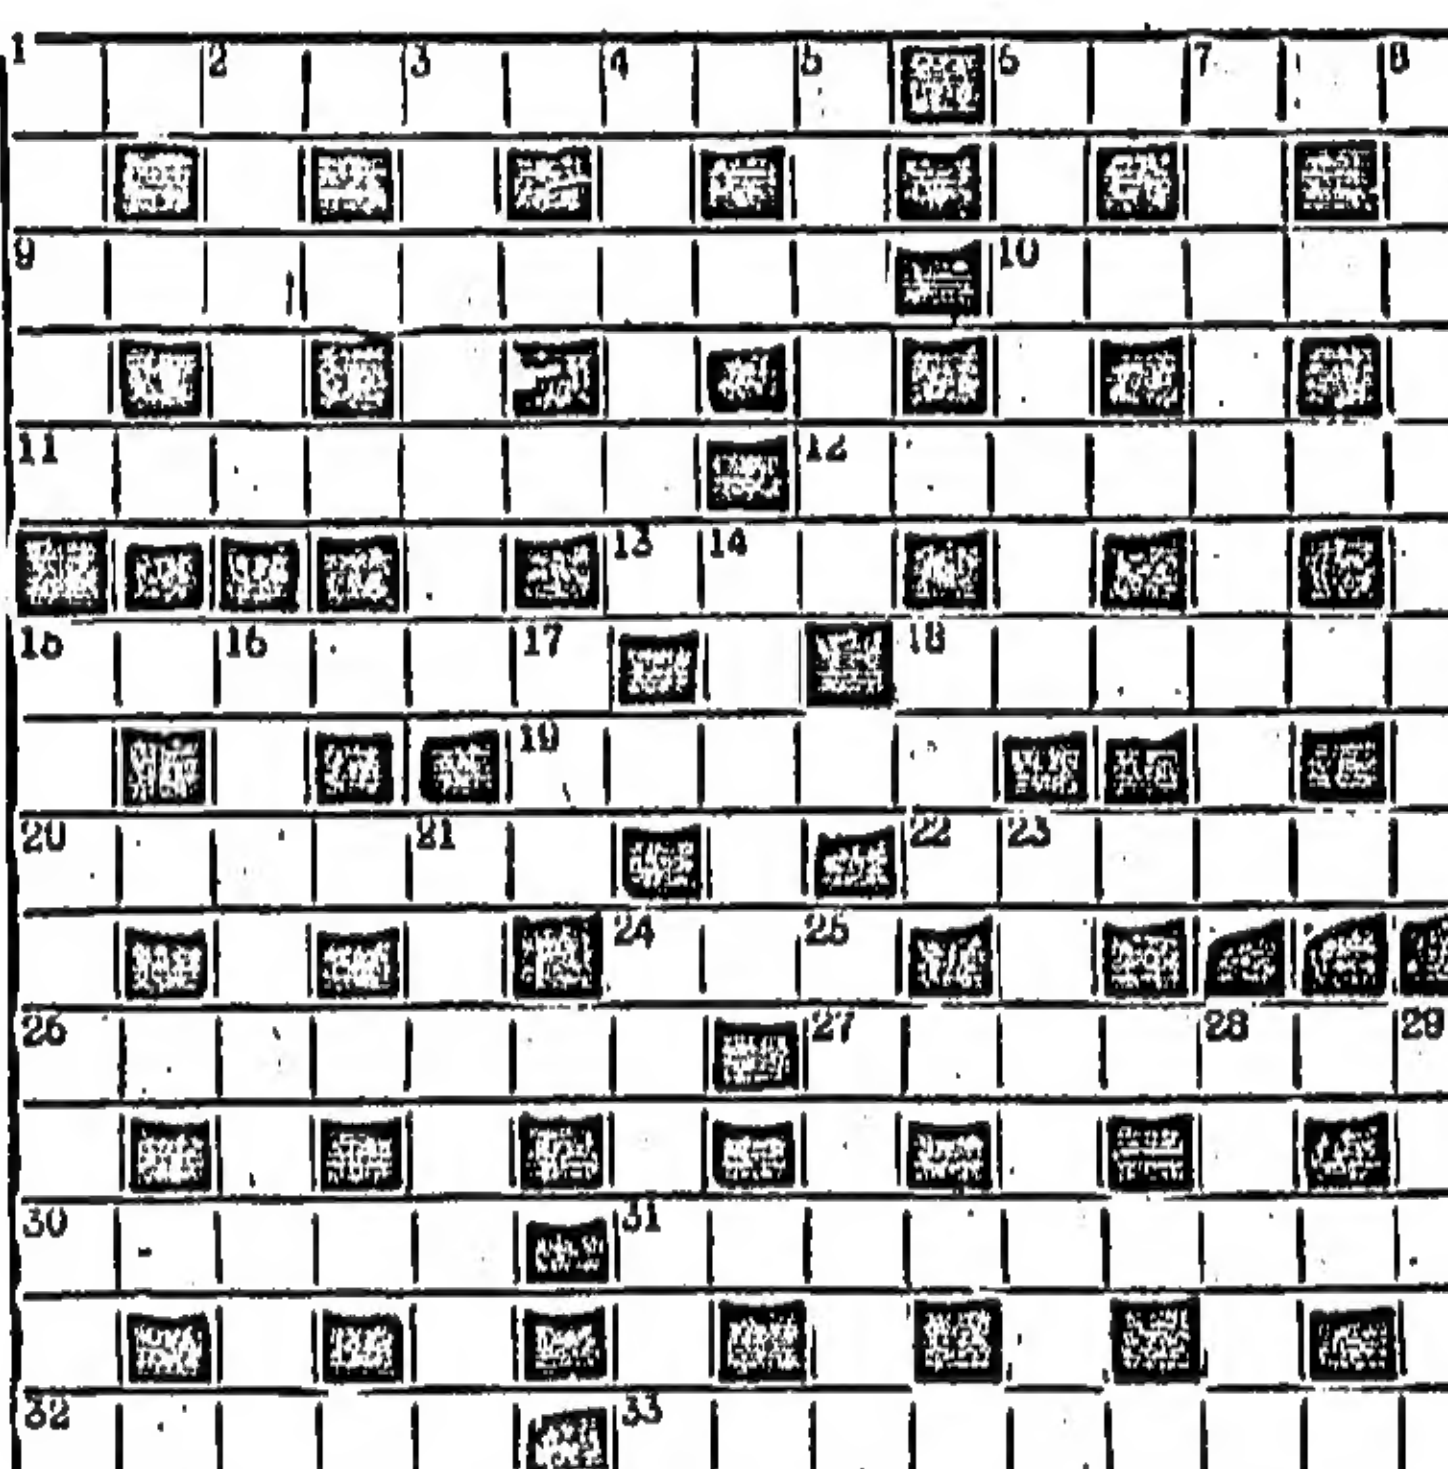

Mix juices and peeled and diced cucumber, allow to chill at least one hour, strain when ready to serve, add chilled grenadine, ginger ale, and green and white ice cubes. Garnish with slices of lemon and maraschino cherries. (To obtain green ice cubes, add green vegetable colouring to the water before freezing.)

MRS. VANDERBILT SUES GLORIA'S GUARDIAN

£20,000
Legacy
Withheld

New York, Aug. 10.

MRS. Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt began a suit to-day against Mrs. Gertrude Payne Whitney, her sister-in-law—guardian of her daughter Gloria—for immediate payment of £20,000 due to her under the will of Mrs. Alice Gwynne Vanderbilt, who left £2,000,000.

Probate of the will, granted more than a year ago, contained this clause: "I give and bequeath to Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt, the widow of my son Reginald C. Vanderbilt, the sum of £20,000." The executors of the will are Mrs. Whitney and General Cornelius Vanderbilt, whom Mrs. Vanderbilt charges with withholding her legacy, and whom she regards as her bitterest enemies.

She states that the executors have failed to answer letters from her attorney demanding payment, and pointed out that as she relinquished all income from the £200,000 established as a trust fund for her daughter Gloria, whose custody the courts have awarded Mrs. Whitney, she is penniless except for what she earns from her dressmaking establishment.

A surrogate has been appointed next Tuesday for the executors to offer any explanation of their omission to pay the legacy.

Mrs. Vanderbilt was a favourite of the late Mrs. Gwynne Vanderbilt, who, according to the testimony at the hearing (over the custody of the child), once cut a strand from a huge pearl necklace and handed it to her. The strand was worth £20,000.

Fashions Change So Quickly

"Rapidly in delivering the consignment was necessary because the load consisted of ladies' dresses," said a solicitor at Highgate in a case arising out of a company having used a lorry which, with its load, weighed 20 tons instead of the 19 tons allowed.

"I always thought that ladies' dresses had no weight," commented the prosecuting solicitor. The Magistrate: And I was wondering what was the necessity of rapidity of transport. Was it because ladies' fashions change in a night?

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE
LESSON SERMONFirst Church of Christ,
Scientist, Hongkong
SUNDAY'S SERVICE

The subject of the Lesson Sermon in all Christian Science churches to-morrow, August 23, will be "Mind."

The Golden Text will be: "Great is the Lord, and of great power; his understanding is infinite." Psalms 147:5.

Amongst others, the following citations will be read from the Bible: "Now I beseech you, brethren, by the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye all speak the same thing, and that there be no divisions among you; but that ye be perfectly joined together in the same mind and in the same judgment." Let every one of us please his neighbour for his good to edification. For even Christ pleased not himself; but, as it is written The reproaches of them that reproached thee fell on me. For whatsoever things were written aforetime were written for our learning, that we through patience and comfort of the scriptures might have hope. Now the God of patience and consolation grant you to be likeminded one towards another according to Christ Jesus; That ye may with one mind and one mouth glorify God, even the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ. (1 Cor. 1: 10, Rom. 15: 2-3).

The Lesson Sermon will also include the following passages from the Christian Science Textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy.

"When the divine precepts are understood, they unfold the foundation of fellowship, in which one mind is not at variance with another, but all have one Spirit, God, one intelligent source, in accordance with the Scriptural command: 'Let this Mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus.' Man and his Maker are correlated in divine Science, and real consciousness is cognizant only of the things of God. The scientific unity which exists between God and man must be wrought out in life-practice, and God's will must be universally done. It must be brought to bear upon the study of Mind, half the faith they bestow on the so-called pains and pleasures of the material sense, they would not learn from bad to worse, until disciplined by the prison and the scaffold; but the whole human family would be redeemed by the merits of Christ—through the perception of truth. For this acceptance of truth, Christian Science glories in the torch of spiritual understanding. When we realize that there is one Mind, the divine law of loving our neighbour as ourselves is unfolded; whereas a belief of many ruling minds hinders man's normal development towards the one Mind one God and leads human thought into opposite channels where selfishness reigns. It should be thoroughly understood that all men have one Mind, one God, and Father, one Life, Truth, and Love. Mankind will become perfect in proportion as this fact becomes apparent, wars will cease and the true brotherhood of man will be established. (Pages 276, 202, 205, 467.)

NEW YORK
GAINING ON CARDSBOSTON FAILS IN GIANTS RUSH

New York, Aug. 21.

New York Giants won again today, from Boston, three to two, and Chicago Cubs came back to their form and beat Cincinnati again to two. St. Louis was not in action.

In the American League, New York beat Boston, four to one, R. Ferrell's home run being the Red Sox only score.

Philadelphia, the tall-enders, took a game from Washington, three to two. Detroit's Goslin whacked out a homer that helped his team materially, turning ten hits to eight runs and making Chicago's eleven hits and six runs wasted effort.

Cleveland won a hard game from St. Louis, four to two. The Indians were outthrew, twelve to eleven, and Cliff's homer might have given the Browns victory if it had scored anyone ahead of him. Weatherly homered twice for the Indians.

FOOD ORDINANCE
CHANGESLOCAL LAW TO BE AMENDED

The Gazette contains the draft of an Ordinance to amend the Public Health (Food) Ordinance, 1935.

Clause 2 of this Bill amends the definitions of dairy, dairyman and milk. The new definitions are: "dairy" and "dairyman" are practically identical with the similar definitions in the Milk and Dairies (Consolidation) Act, 1915. In the light of the experience gained since the passing of the Ordinance it is considered that the present definitions are more suitable to the conditions in the Colony.

The amendment in clause 3 restores to the Chairman of the Urban Council a power which he formerly possessed as Head of the Sanitary Department. It is considered that the restoration of him of this power will simplify matters from the administrative point of view.

SEIZED FOOD

Under section 4 (5) of the principal Ordinance an article of food seized as being unwholesome was required to be kept for a period which might be as long as forty-eight hours. The magistrate also had power to disallow the seizure and restore the article to its owner. In practice this section is unworkable owing to the difficulty of keeping food, particularly unwholesome food, for any length of time. Clause 4 of the Bill reduces the period within which applications must be made to the magistrate from forty-eight hours to twenty-four hours and also substitutes for the power of the magistrate to restore the article a power to order compensation. Consequently section 4 (6) will be repealed by clause 5 of the Bill.

The amendment in clause 6 enables fees to be charged in connection with every matter with regard to which the Council has power to make by-laws under section 5 of the principal Ordinance.

The new section 10 added by clause 7 gives a power of arrest in the absence of a police officer similar to the power of arrest given under section 16 of the Public Health (Sanitation) Ordinance, No. 15 of 1935.

The new section 11 added by clause 7 clarifies the position as to the application of the Ordinance to the New Territories. The section is identical with section 97 of the Public Health (Sanitation) Ordinance, No. 15 of 1935.

The power of appeal granted under clauses 12, 13 and 14 is similar to that already possessed by applicants of the Public Health (Sanitation) Ordinance, No. 15 of 1935, and under sections 161, 162 and 163 of the Buildings Ordinance, No. 18 of 1935. It is considered expedient to extend this right of appeal to the present Ordinance.

SANITATION
ORDINANCETO BE EXTENDED TO WHOLE COLONY

The Gazette contains the draft of an Ordinance to amend the Public Health (Sanitation) Ordinance, 1935.

It is explained that it is desirable that the principal Ordinance should apply not merely to the City of Victoria but to the whole of the Island of Hongkong. The amendment in clause 2 of the Bill extends the application of the Ordinance to the whole island.

The definition of "Workshop" is unsuitable in that premises in which less than twenty persons are employed in manual labour do not come within its scope. The amendment in clause 3 of the Bill extends the definition to include all such premises irrespective of the number of persons employed.

It is considered desirable to exercise control not only over premises which are laundries in the accepted sense of the word but also over premises which are merely receiving and distributing deposits. Clause 4 of the Bill enables the necessary degree of control to be exercised.

The amendment in clause 5 of the Bill clarifies the manner in which public baths, laundries and wash-houses are to be controlled. The amendment in clause 6 of the Bill enables fees to be charged in connection with every matter with regard to which the Council has power to make by-laws.

POWER OF ENTRY

It is considered necessary to extend the power of entry without notice, which is at present possessed only by a Health Officer, under section 9 of the principal Ordinance. The amendment in clause 7 of the Bill extends this power to an officer of the Sanitary Department.

Entry is occasionally desirable for other purposes than for ascertaining whether a domestic building is in an overcrowded condition. For example there may be grounds for suspecting that a basement is occupied without permission contrary to section 50 of the Ordinance and entry to ascertain the true condition of affairs may be necessary. This is not provided for under section 13 of the principal Ordinance and clause 8 of the Bill remedies this defect.

By section 22 (1) of the principal Ordinance the Council has power to serve notices directing compliance with by-laws. It is desirable to extend this power to cases of non-compliance with provisions of the Ordinance. Clause 9 enables this to be done. Consequently the amendment of clause 10 follows.

The proviso to section 36 of the principal Ordinance the Council with the consent of the Governor-in-Council may grant exemption from the requirements of the section. It is considered unnecessary that such applications for exemption should be referred to the Governor-in-Council. The amendment in clause 11 abolishes the need for such reference.

The written permission of the Governor is required before certain acts can be done under sections 74 and 75 of the principal Ordinance. It is considered sufficient to obtain the permission of the Colonial Secretary for the purposes of these acts and the amendments in clauses 11, 12, 13 and 14 enable the necessary change to be made.

BLACK LEGION'S HEAD
MUST STAND TRIAL

Detroit, Aug. 21.

Virgil Effinger, described by the prosecution as the national head of the Black Legion, was indicted with twenty-one others on charges of connection with a criminal syndicate and terrorist activities.

They are accused of advocating of teaching, "crime, sabotage, violence or other forms of terrorism as a means of accomplishing industrial or political reforms."

The maximum penalty under this Code is ten years' imprisonment and $5,000 fine.

The conspiracy charge included in the indictment carries a sentence of five years' imprisonment, maximum.

DAY BY DAY NEWS IN BRIEF

OFF TIMES NOTHING PROFITS MORE THAN SELF-ESTEEM, GROUNDED ON JUST AND RIGHT, WELL MANAGED.—Milton.

Officers of the Hongkong Volunteer Defence Corps last night gave a dinner at Headquarters to their retiring Commandant, Lieut. Col. H. B. L. Dowling, who is succeeded by Lieut. Col. R. C. B. Anderson.

His Excellency the Governor-in-Council has ordered that the duration of the rights, powers and privileges granted, under the provisions of the Hope Company's Tramway Ordinance, 1901, shall be extended for a period of one year from December, 1936.

The name of Mr. Godfrey Vernon Bird has been added to the list of authorised architects.

Two cases of Typhoid and one case each of Diphtheria and Meningitis were reported to the local Health authorities on Thursday.

Local estate to the value of $10,100 was left by the late Mr. Kenneth Eric John Ainsworth, Dabesteln, formerly of 51 Canton Road, Shanghai, who died on September 24, 1935. Letters of administration to the estate have been granted to Mr. D. H. Blake, solicitor, the lawful attorney.

NEW YORK STOCK
EXCHANGEMARKET IRREGULAR
YESTERDAY

New York, Aug. 21.

Swan, Culbertson & Fritz, Dow Jones summary of yesterday's market: "War fears to-day brought about a crash throughout the entire List, with prices declining as much as ten points. Traders scrambled to unload their holdings and many interests sold short in the afternoon. A minor rally then ensued, but this failed to hold and selling increased in volume during the final hour, with the tilters falling behind. High grade issues received the hardest hit, although no group of shares was spared. The market for bonds was lower. Stocks on the Curb Exchange were irregularly lower."

S. C. & F. New York office cables: Stocks: The market was weak on war rumours and on short selling. We expect an early technical rally. The Union Pacific Railroad Company earned $2,100,000 in July as against $698,780 in July last year. The Atlantic Refining Company earned 38 cents per share during the quarter ended June 30 as compared with 14 cents during the same quarter last year. Bank Clearings during the past week were off 2 per cent.

Cotton: Trade support was insufficient to absorb increased hedging in the last hour of to-day's session.

Wheat: The firmness of cash wheat and an improved demand for flour was offset by the easiness of the foreign and outside markets. It is reported that a good headway has been made in ploughings in the South-West.

Corn: This market was under the influence of better weather conditions. There are numerous reports of an improvement in the crop in the East due to the recent rains. It is reported that large quantities of Argentine corn are now on the way to the United States.

Butter: There was some moderate liquidation by longs.

S. C. & F. Wall Street Journal morning comment: "The drought, so far, has helped dairy companies. Bulls are most anxious for an advance in utility securities to nullify the impression that political considerations are retarding the market. News is still in favour of bulls. Amsterdam interests are buying railroad shares. The Street expects the forthcoming amusement season to be the best since 1929. There is much bullish gossip with regard to Douglas Aircraft stocks."

THE CHINA FLEET
CUMBERLAND TO BE FLAGSHIP

London, Aug. 21.

The cruiser Cumberland, commanded by Captain Leach, completed prolonged trials on re-equipment and leaves Sheerness at the end of the month for China. The vessel was largely reconstructed and is scarcely recognisable.

Part of the deck has been cut away and a seaplane hangar added. The armour has been considerably increased. Anti-aircraft guns have been installed.

She will become the flagship on arrival in China. The cruiser Kent will then be preceding home. The cruiser Capetown, new-comer to China, is due in Hongkong on September 21. It is understood that she is specially intended for duty during the winter on the Yangtze River.—Reuter.

Majestic Training Ship

London, Aug. 21.

The liner Majestic, ex-flagship of the White Star Line, which was due to leave Southampton in September for the Tyne to be broken up, has been saved at the eleventh hour. The Admiralty bought her up as a training ship for blue-jackets. Naval circles are very pleased and say that she is a beautiful ship and will need little alteration except the removal of her luxury cabins.—Reuter.

FARMHAND INHERITS FIRM THAT BORED HIM

Toronto, Aug. 10.

TWENTY-YEAR-OLD GEORGE BOOTH, earning £5 a month as a farmhand at Goderich, Ontario, has heard the glad news that he is now part owner of an Edinburgh biscuit manufacturing firm, with a fortune of about £20,000 awaiting him on his arrival in Scotland next month.

Four years ago young Booth, tired of working in his father's factory, left for Canada—and farm work.

He said: "Although I am going back to Scotland next month, I am coming back to Canada in the spring."

"To farm?" he was asked.

"I am now going to travel to see something of Canada and I may buy a farm here. I think Canada a wonderful country."

'DOUBLE CROSSING DEMOCRATS'

FATHER COUGHLIN ON THE WAR PATH

VIOLENT ATTACK ON MR. ROOSEVELT

New York, Aug. 16.

Turning on his former leader with the same vituperation he has directed against international bankers and corporate interests, Father Charles Coughlin fairly outdid himself in attacking President Roosevelt.

Addressing the annual convention of Dr. Francis Townsend's Old-Age Revolving Pensions, Ltd., at Cleveland, Father Coughlin called President "Franklin double-crossing Roosevelt" and described him as a "traitor and great betrayer."

"The violence of his attack, roused the majority of the 11,000 delegates to wild applause, but caused some 'boos'."

Peeling off his coat and loosening his collar in the torrid convention hall, Father Coughlin shouted and waved his arms in the best rabble-raising manner. He advised the Townsendites to "watch your own Judas Iscariots, who are taking dirty pieces of silver to sell you out to Jim Farley (the Democratic National chairman)," and repeated, "I am ready to die in the struggle to liberate America from the money changers."

He scoffed at the Southerners who put party label above principles, saying, "They jump up when they hear the word Democrat, but don't forget these are the people who sold you out to the Rothschilds and the international money changers."

"I ask you Southern Democrats to expunge from the party the man who has seized the reins and put Communism in, I mean Franklin double-crossing Roosevelt."

"All those who favour freeing America from double-crossing Democrats and standard Republicanism, stand up!" and the audience, shouting, leaped to its feet.

"LUNATIC FRINGE"

Father Coughlin declared that his Union of Social Justice, the Townsendites and the late Senator Huey Long's Share the Wealth movement, now headed by the Rev. G. L. K. Smith, would stand together behind Mr. William Lemke's Union Party, but that each would retain its own identity.

The wedding of the different elements of the so-called "lunatic fringe" behind Lemke, which is apparently much further advanced by to-day's developments, holds a serious menace for President Roosevelt's chances. These developments included a breakfast conference in which Dr. Townsend, the Rev. Gerald Smith, and Father Coughlin participated, and after which they formally announced the unity of their objective.

Mrs. Meynell received from the King at Buckingham Palace recently the Victoria Cross awarded posthumously to her husband, Capt. Godfrey Meynell, Indian Army, for bravery in Baluchistan last September.

"The fine example he set to his men, coupled with his determination to hold the position to the last, maintained the traditions of the Army and reflect the highest credit on the fallen officer and his comrades," was the official comment.

Mrs. Melly was given the Albert Medal in gold, awarded posthumously to her son, Mr. Andre Melly, in recognition of his conspicuous gallantry during the disorders in Addis Ababa.

Litvinov is Slimming

Montreux, Aug. 15.
M. Litvinov, Soviet Commissar for Foreign Affairs, is a happy man.

To-day, his 60th birthday, the Soviet Government conferred upon him the Order of Lenin for his "outstanding services in the struggle for peace."

Stalin, Molotov, Kallinin, and other big Soviet leaders wired their congratulations.

But he is most pleased, he says, by the fact that he has lost 40 lbs. in weight by dieting.

Vade Mecum For Italians

PHYSICAL FITNESS
RECORD

The Fascist Tape
Measure

Rome, Aug. 15.

From to-day on every Italian man and youth must under penalty keep an official record of his fitness to do immediate duty as a fighting soldier.

In accordance with a decree converted into active law and promulgated in the Official Gazette to-night, every Italian male from the age of 11 until the age of 32 must possess a Government supplied handbook, in which his state of physical fitness and military training and experience are tabulated and certified. These entries are to be brought up to date every year.

Every man, youth, and boy is thus labelled with a completeness of detail from which there is no escape. No part of the human anatomy is missed by the Fascist tape measure and sounding instruments. No detail of military instruction is overlooked in the curriculum which all must follow—or explain in writing why not.

HEALTH, SPORT, POLITICS

Various "activities" have also to be periodically accounted for—political, intellectual, and sports. Shooting records are enshrined with particulars about the Italian subject's endeavors. Diagrams of the human jaw allow the Government to trace the history of his teeth as well as the odyssey of his intellect.

Occasional mottoes or quotations leave this document. For instance, when the Italian boy reaches the age of 14 he has the satisfaction of learning from the page which then opens in front of him in his book that "The Twentieth Century beholds Rome as the centre of Latin civilisation; mistress of the Mediterranean; a light-house for all peoples."

THE CITIZEN-SOLDIER

The whole scheme is based on the now legalised assumption that "citizen" and "soldier" are inseparable terms. The plan of which this handbook is the outward sign and proof is to have every young man trained in arms before his conscription service begins at 17; to allow, therefore, highly accelerated and specialised army training during the conscription years to continue in reserve training and contact with the military authorities until 32, before passing into normal reserve, which lasts until a man is 52 years of age.

With the complete and continuous control over every individual now begun with this handbook record system, every man knows exactly what he is expected and is by law to do on a declaration of mobilisation or on any sudden outbreak of war—and at the same time the military authorities know automatically every man's capabilities as a cog in the war machine.

A VICAR GOES INTO FIGURES

MEN bathers who "go down to the sea in slips," strongly criticised as being "all angles and bones and perfectly horrible," by the Rev. W. Yates, aged 53, Vicar of St. John's, Blackpool, after a visit to Cromer, have a champion—the vicar's wife!

Mr. Yates told a Blackpool meeting that "every part of the male should be covered when bathing." The female, however, was a delight to look on—"all curves, symmetry, and perfect grace."

"So he thinks girls' figures are all curves and grace, does he?" Mrs. Yates said "Of course they are—the majority. Some of those we saw at Cromer, especially."

"The young ones were perfectly lovely, but so were some of the men, too, in my view. They looked very handsome and manly."

"Still, it is quite natural isn't it, that he should admire women's figures?" After all, he is a man. Most women prefer to see men bathers than women.

"A man's figure, providing it has not gone out of shape as so many do, arouses a woman's admiration, especially young women, more than seeing one of her own sex in a bathing costume."

"It was something I said without giving it much thought," Mr. Yates remarked.

FOODS THAT MAKE PERFECT DIET

Doctor on Meal Fads of WomenTHESE are the foods you must eat if you wish to be strong and healthy:Good whole cereal grain or mixture of whole cereal grains or good wholemeal bread.Milk and the products of milk—butter, cheese, curds, buttermilk.Egg, green-leaf vegetables, root vegetables—potatoes, carrots, etc., legumes, fruit, meat, water.The authority for this diet is Major-General Sir Robert Mc-Carrison. He told the British Medical Association at Oxford that the new conception of causes and origins of disease might be summed up in the sequence:Faulty food, faulty nutrition, faulty function, faulty structure,
faulty health—disease.

PERFECT NUTRITION

The foodstuffs he named, when properly combined in the diet, were known to ensure perfect nutrition and a high grade of physical efficiency and health.Sir Robert said the deficiency of certain vitamins had important relations to the development and health of the nervous system. Mal-nourished, weakly and ill-conditioned children were peculiarly susceptible to inflammatory states of the nose, ear and throat."In my experience men are not so addicted to food fads as women," declared Dr. R. M. MacKenna."Well still enjoy our bacon-and-egg breakfast, the light luncheon in the middle of the day and the heavy meal, with its preponderance of proteins, at night, and in this not too well balanced regimen we manage to keep fairly fit.""But so far as the upper middle classes are concerned the diet of the women is changing—or has changed.""No longer does the lady of the house have the same breakfast as her husband.""Half a grape fruit or some orange juice, some thin dry toast or rye bread and a cup of tea or coffee suffice for her matutinal needs.""For lunch she appears to enjoy lettuce, cheese and biscuits or some similar fare, while afternoon tea is now but a shadow of its former self,
but at dinner she keeps pace with her husband.""The result is that after one meal her stomach has to cope with approximately 60 or 70 per cent. of her daily nutriment."In a discussion on maternity services, Sir Ewen Maclean said:
"A nation's maternity service,
which excludes the general practitioner from its responsible personnel is impossible and unthinkable.""The hospital is an indispensable adjunct," he added, "but there are hospitals and hospitals.""The home is infinitely safer than a carelessly conducted hospital."Dr. Wyndham Parker (Worcester) said there had been a marked decrease in the number of deaths in the home. The satisfactory home was the safest place for the normal confinement.Doctors at the conference watched a mock air-raid and a mimic gas attack during which nurses wearing gas masks and long protective overalls attended to sufferers.Few Seek
This Flying
AdventureSEPTEMBER'S £10,000 air race from England to Johannesburg, open to British pilots and airplanes, has so far attracted only one definite entry—from South Africa.Conditions of the race were announced by the Royal Aero Club on June 25. Briefly they were—First prize of £4,000 to first airplane home; four more prizes of £3,000, £1,500, £1,000 and £500.
Race to be flown in two sections, speed and handicap. Prize money presented by South African millionaire, L. W. Schindler.Yet not one entry from Britain has so far been received.Reason, as supplied by Mrs. Amy Mollison—"There's no time to build a special plane."
"Jim hopes to fly in the race.
So do I, but £20,000 is the cost of about the best airplane I can see.
Add insurance of about £2,000
with only £500 rebate for no claims."
"Total bill, £7,500 to win a possible £4,000!""NOT INTERESTED"
A London representative tried to discover what support is likely from other British fliers for this race.
With this result—Bristol Aeroplane Company, builders and owners of the "143" type airliner capable of well over 200
m.p.h.: "Not interested in the race.
Too busy with Government orders."Alfred, Ltd., builders of 210 m.p.h.
Envoy machine: "Hope to enter one machine. Pilots Max Findlay and Ken Walker."De Havillands: "No decision. May possibly have new type ready for race."Phillips and Powis: "May have our new Peregrine liner ready. Pilot would be 'Flying-Officer' H. R.
Edwards."David Llewellyn. Cape record breaker, hopes to fly a 170 m.p.h.

of women, so a press representative went along to the Savoy to collect a word picture of his ideal woman."I can't get away from her," he said, as he proceeded to "draw" her.
"She would have to be pretty tall, say 5 ft. 9 ins. at least.""Broad-shouldered. Full, not fat.

AIR CRASH ON NORMANDIE

OWNERS APPEAL
FOR OFFICERLETTER TO COURT-MARTIAL
ASKS FOR CLEMENCYTHERE was a moment of dramatic suspense followed by surprise at the R.A.F. General Court-Martial at Gosport, where Lieut. Guy Kennedy Horsey, R.N., pilot of the plane, was being tried on two charges, following his crash on the deck of the Normandie off Ryde, Isle of Wight, on June 22.The evidence closed, the speeches finished, the Court resumed in open session after sitting in camera for nearly an hour.The Deputy Judge Advocate-General, Mr. C. L. Stirling, quietly intimated now that the Court had "no findings to announce."Lieut.-Colonel F. N. Syms (for the defence) was immediately offered the opportunity to address the Court in mitigation of punishment.
This was the first intimation of the tribunal's decision.

"DANGEROUS POSITION"

Lieut.-Colonel Syms made a brief address and the Deputy Judge Advocate read a remarkable document—a letter from the owners of the liner to the Secretary of the Admiralty, making "a very strong appeal for the clemency of the Court to be exercised" in Lieutenant Horsey's favour.
The letter said (in part):"I do not wish to appear to be interfering with the process of the due course of justice, but we desire to say we think that the accident was due to his being unable to extricate himself from a dangerous position."The announcement that the findings of the Court will be promulgated in due course followed. The proceedings were over.Lieutenant Horsey was charged with negligently damaging a Baffin aircraft in that he flew it so negligently over the Solent as to cause it to collide with the Normandie, and that he flew in the vicinity of the liner in such a manner as to be likely to cause loss of life to people aboard and other ships alongside. He pleaded not guilty.Earlier in the day Lieutenant Horsey was safely on deck, ran towards me and shook me by the hand. All they he tried to avoid colliding with the liner.He said that after dropping his dummy torpedo during exercises he felt himself being moved bodily sideways in towards the Normandie."I could see the liner getting closer and closer. I was hoping I might clear the deck and go into the sea, but I evidently hit something. It tore the wing off and pulled the machine right round in the opposite direction. I do not remember anything about the crash after that.""I jumped out of the aeroplane on to the deck."
"The French sailors, when they saw it was not going to take fire, and I his honour in any way."Lieutenant Horsey denied that he flew round the ship because he wanted to have a good look at her.The Deputy Judge Advocate: Do you really believe that suction had anything to do with this?—I am certain that it had.The deputy-judge advocate told the court that the question of "honourable acquittal" did not arise in this case. It was reserved for the case of officers accused of dishonesty or dishonourable conduct.The Court was considering whether Lieutenant Horsey had been guilty of something which did not smirch
his honour in any way.

"PRINCE'S" PLATE
By Mappin & Webb
THERE IS DEEP SIGNIFICANCE

In the way time proves the real worth of beautiful things, time adds to their value—indeed time is often the test of their quality and an index of their measure of perfection. In the case of good plate, quality is the only criterion of value, and the ultimate test of that quality is time and use, that is why PRINCE'S PLATE is so unquestionably worthy of the unrivalled reputation it has achieved.

A DEVILISH TRAFFIC

As the first serious step in the war on the heroin traffic locally, we welcome the severity of the sentences passed by the Chief Justice at the Criminal Sessions on persons found guilty of possession of the drug. It was by reason of the inadequacy of magisterial powers for this offence that the authorities decided to remit the more serious cases to the Sessions, where sentences up to a maximum of ten years' hard labour are possible. The Chief Justice has marked his detestation of the traffic by imposing exemplary penalties on those convicted after due trial by jury. He has not, in this first batch of cases to come before him, exercised his powers to the full, but he has issued a warning of heavier penalties in future. Whilst all who in any way lend themselves to furtherance of the traffic deserve severe punishment, it will be conceded that mere carriers of the drug are not quite in the same category as those concerned in the actual manufacture of the pills. In the former class are many poor people, who are prepared to do any job of "carrying," whether the contraband be opium, tobacco, liquor or heroin. Admittedly, they are facilitating the traffic, but their part in it is not nearly so reprehensible as that of those who assist in the running of factories which have sprung up in large numbers in various parts of the Colony. Heavy as the sentences imposed by the Chief Justice are, the public would, we have no doubt, approve of even longer terms, together with a strengthening of the law so as to allow flogging in the really serious cases. Short-term sentences are of no avail whatever, since they imply little hardship apart from temporary loss of freedom; moreover, it is believed that the relatives of the offenders are monetarily compensated during the latter's incarceration. No such considerations would apply in the case of long-term sentences, and the knowledge that these will be imposed in future should have a deterrent effect on people who have been induced to play a part in the extension of the traffic. But it is not only because of the local consequences of a most terrible character to those who contract the drug habit—that stern measures are essential. There is the further aspect, to which we have previously alluded, that if the traffic is not suppressed, this Colony will in course of time secure an evil reputation as a centre for the manufacture of pills for export. This might easily arouse political jealousy of the most undesirable character. It is illuminating, on this point, to mention that in one of the Sessions cases the prisoner asserted that the pills were not

WHICH GLAND TYPE are you?

A QUARTER of a grain of iodine, a barely visible speck.

Yet without that quantity of thyroxine—a chemical compound manufactured by the thyroid gland, which is situated below your Adam's apple—your body would cease to function.

Halve that quantity and you would be dribbling imbecile. Double it and you would be a raving maniac.

Substances even more powerful are manufactured by the remarkable endocrine glands that are distributed all over your body.

These are the substances that determine your personality, your temperament, your career, your fate.

A pinch more of pituitary and you have a Napoleon; a pinch more of adrenal and a Mussolini; a pinch more of thyroid, a Hitler; a pinch more of thymus and you have a Schubert, an Oscar Wilde.

Glands make the man and his personality.

One formula and you have the imbecile; another and you have the genius. One gives you a Casanova, a Don Juan; another, a misogynist who pretends to dislike women because he fears them.

HERE is a questionnaire that will help you to get an idea of the glandular make-up of yourself and others: it will help you to understand people, to persuade women, to dissuade men, to be less ignorant of those you meet.

Don't take it too seriously—superior scientists might sniff at it—but do not take it too frivolously, either.

It is a fascinating game, anyway.

This is what you have to do.

Go through all the questions marked below—walk, height, build, and so on—and mark which items in each apply to you (or the person you are analysing).

Then add up the number of points—that is, all the PR's, all the A's, the T's, the TM's.

Each of these letters represents a gland thus:—

PR=Prepituitary.
PP=Post-pituitary.
A=Adrenal.
T=Thyroid.
TM=Thymus.

There are for men the following possible number of points:—

PR PP A T TM
54 48 43 40 44

For women:—
PR PP A T TM
55 59 57 42 47

To get your rating divide your points for each gland by the number of points possible and multiply by 100.

If your rating is well over 50 you are dominant in that gland.

Three out of five people are dominant in one gland; one out of five is a hyphenated type, i.e., dominates in two glands, such as pituitary-thyroid, adrenal-thymus; one out of five is a mixed type difficult to classify.

On Monday I will tell you about the different types.

intended for local use, but were destined for Hongkong, where, he stated, there is a good market for the drug. It is apparent that the local production of these pills is already far greater than required for local consumption, and it is a fair inference to draw that the surplus is sent out of the Colony, thus spreading the evil far beyond our own doors. A rigorous campaign, involving co-operation between all departments of the Government—in cluding widespread propaganda to offset that of the big interests behind the traffic—is called for. This, backed up by severe sentences, even to the extent of flogging, in the worst cases, should in course of time greatly reduce the magnitude of the evil.

Napoleon was a great organising leader because he had an overdose of one gland—the Prepituitary. Mussolini is a great dynamic leader because he has an overdose of Adrenal gland. Joan Crawford owes her charms as an actress to an overdose of Thyroid gland.

Answer these questions and you will discover what is your predominant gland. On Monday a further article will tell you its effect on your career, personality, character.

BULLS AND INNERS

From the Office Butts

Speaking of misdirected mails, there was the flapper who thought High West was Mount Pleasant.

The only thing a local Scotsman salvaged from his wrecked matchbox was a bottle of whisky which wasn't there before.

One thing about a typhoon, it's a great social leveller, even if it does cause an upheaval.

We noticed a couple of double-barrelled guns and a set of lawn bowls for sale. Guns and woods usually do go together.

A number of people lost various things in the typhoon, including their balance.

The hot weather will soon be all over. All over what?

Seems as if Junk Bay has lived up to its name.

Counterfeit ten-cent coins are a continual source of trouble to local transport companies. Not fare.

A lady clad in a bathing costume was observed taking snapshots on Queen's Pier during the typhoon blow. Although not exactly over-exposed, she certainly appeared to be well developed.

"Permanent Waves for Soldiers," says heading. Sailors, of course, have always had 'em.

A London gossip writer says that red finger and toe nails are now taboo. You're talon us!

It is said that ship's engineers are often of the rotund type. Probably due to triple expansion.

Tytam-Tuk is now running over. The effect, we understand, is most weird in the moonlight.

HONGKONG AND MACAO: TYPHOON DEVASTATION

The terrific force of the wind during the typhoon is illustrated by this picture, which shows an electric light standard at Macao twisted into a fantastic shape.

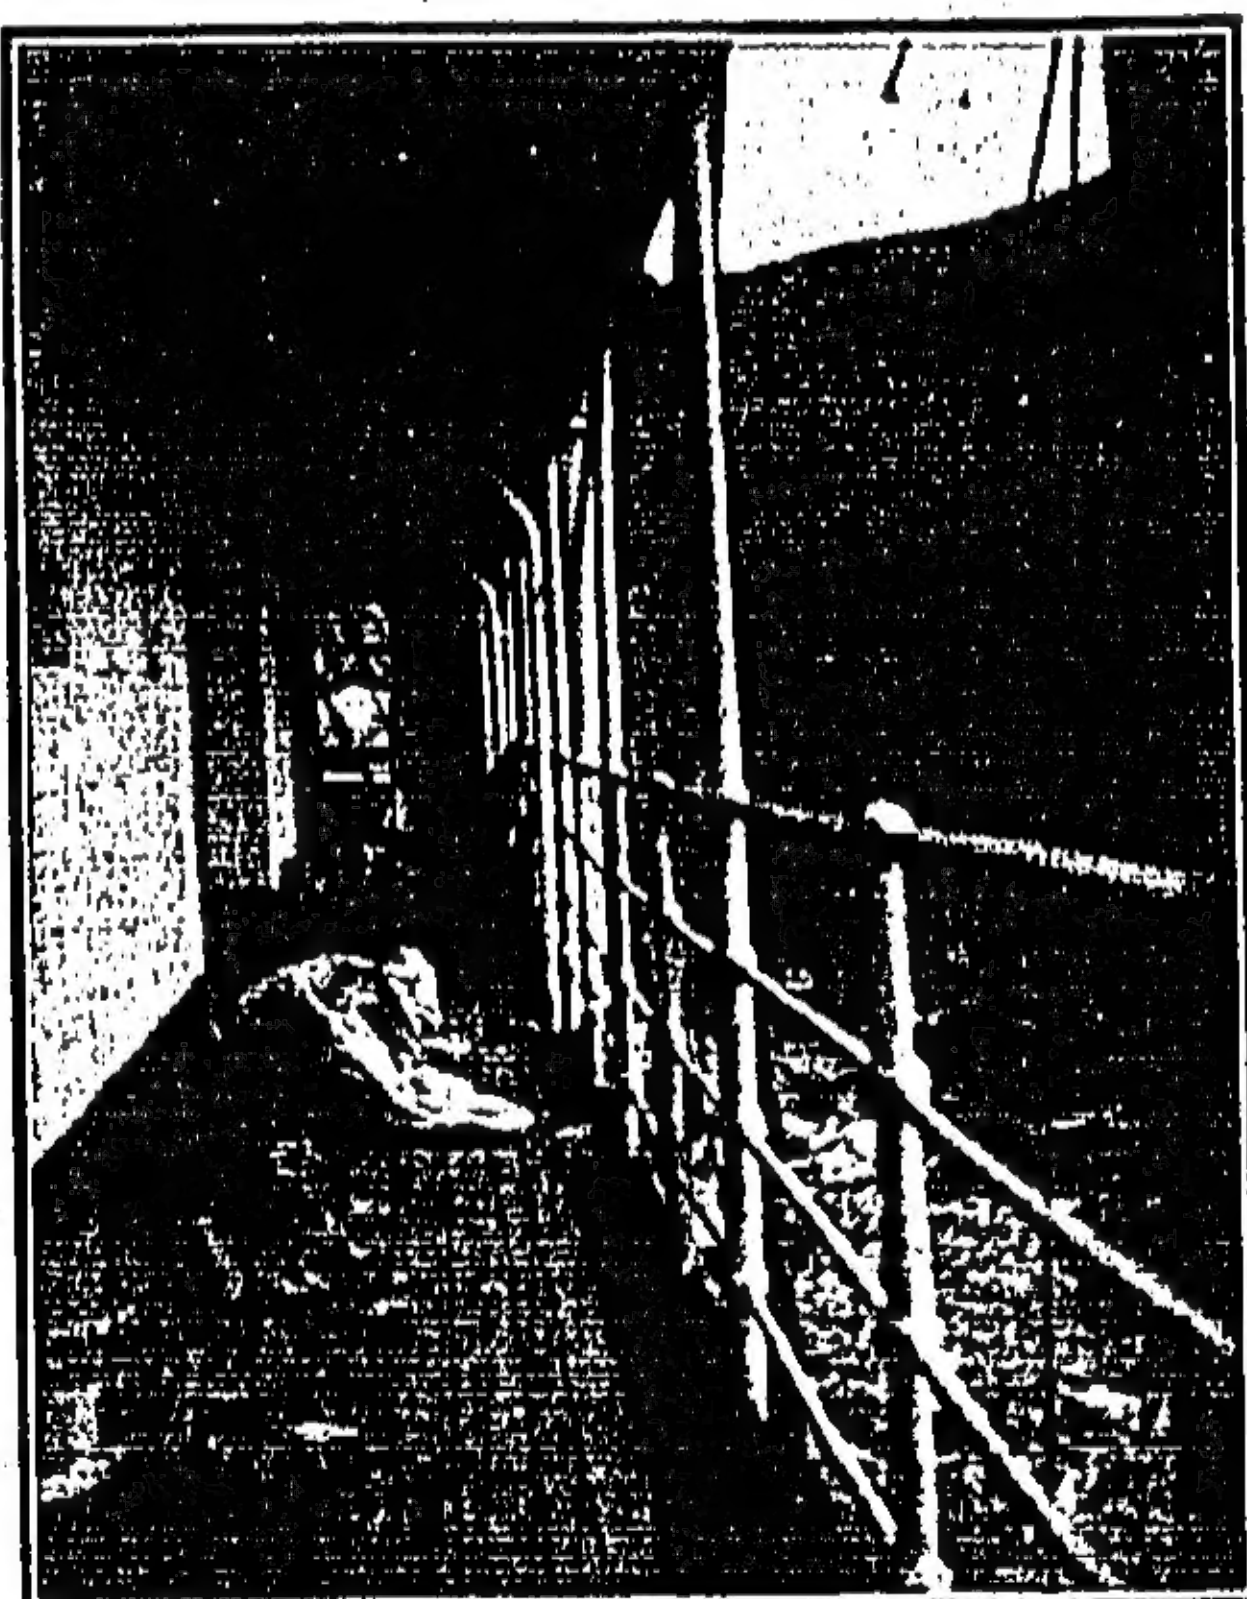

This picture gives a vivid impression of the flooding of thoroughfares at Macao, following the disastrous typhoon blow.

This remarkable photograph, taken by a "Telegraph" Staff Photographer, shows the remains of the China Navigation Company's steamer Sunning ashore in Junk Bay. The white arrow shows the fore part of the vessel, which was catapulted in a series of somersaults to where it lies, 200 yards from the main body of the vessel.

Another photograph of the Sunning, clearly indicating the manner in which the fore part of the vessel was torn away. As can be seen, the entire foredeck has collapsed. (Staff Photographer).

Lifebelts and passengers' personal belongings strewn along the deck of the Sunning. The Jacob's Ladder, down which the survivors climbed to the lifeboat below, is clearly shown in this photograph. (Staff Photographer).

The Casino, a large track at Macao, was completely wrecked by the typhoon. Above it the scene at the entrance.

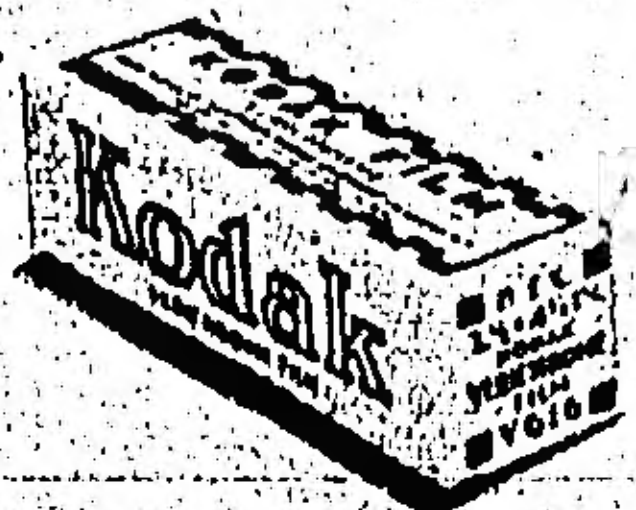

Holiday pictures ahead
Kodak as you go —

Holidays are the days you will want to remember and nothing remembers like a Kodak.

Next week—next winter—the scenes will be as vivid as ever, in snapshots. So on holiday trips, don't be one who "forgot to bring the camera." You'll get so much more out of the day by taking your Kodak along....

KODAKS six-16 and six-20 — "Something to be proud of".... that phrase describes these famous Kodaks. Their octagonal motif and enamelled sides spell smartness. Built around Eastman's smaller, subminiature film spool, they are notably compact. Pressure on a button makes the camera open.... the lens into position. And there is photographic capability galore. It reaches its peak in models equipped with Zeiss Ikonar f.4.5 lens and Compur shutter—masters of light and action. Kodak six-16 picture size 2 1/4 x 4 1/4 inches. Kodak six-20—2 1/4 x 3 1/4 inches.

Any camera is a better camera when it's loaded with Kodak Verichrome Film. Good snapshots come twice as easy—you get them in the shade and on cloudy days, as well as in the sun. People don't have to squint into the light—you get their natural expressions, true to life.

ZBW RADIO BALLOT

Local Listeners Want More "Pep" In ZBW Announcing: Gentlemen Prefer Neither Blondes Nor Brunettes But Want Own Sex

QUITE apart from the actual result of the Popular Radio Items contest, the results of which were announced in the "Telegraph" last Tuesday, several important facts have emerged from this competition.

Firstly, the competition has upheld the contention of this Page, voiced recently in an Open Letter to the Broadcasting Committee, that the majority of listeners are dissatisfied with ZBW's programmes.

Only 49 of the 603 entrants in the competition failed to record their opinion regarding ZBW's present programmes. More than 65 per cent. of the remaining 554 entrants voiced dissatisfaction with ZBW. But, as one listener asked, "Is anybody ever satisfied with their radio programmes?"

Maskee for a while the actual competition, against which the charge can be levelled (unjustly, as it turned out) that listeners were more interested in the prize than in giving correct interpretations of their tastes. Let us concentrate on the non-compulsory features of this ballot—the features which were strictly non-biased, since they were quite apart from the competitive portion relating to items. These features are the responses to the three questions, and the request for suggestions.

Despite their non-compulsory nature, the response was overwhelming. I have before me more than 150 letters containing suggestions for the improvement of ZBW's programmes. Each letter contains anything up to ten suggestions.

Tabulating these non-compulsory features, several things become glaringly obvious.

Listeners, on the whole, do not like our announcers, with one or two exceptions.

The majority of those who wrote letters do not like our local artists, also with one or two exceptions.

Over four hundred of the 603 entrants asked for early morning programmes. Only 134 voted against them. An even greater number want broadcast relays from stations other than Daventry, only 92 voting against this suggestion.

It would be impossible to completely analyse the suggestions in this issue of the "Telegraph" and I propose dissecting them in separate articles. To-day we will deal with the Announcers, since this seems to be the most controversial subject.

It is remarkable, in this connection, how many listeners have used the word "Pep". Lack of "pep" in announcing seems to be the chief complaint. No less than 28 people made one of their suggestions "MORE PEP IN THE ANNOUNCING."

Lady announcers appear to be distinctly unpopular, and many requests were made for their elimination. "J.H." asked that the announcers should announce in the same high tone. "Some", he wrote, "are very low, and as a result the listener has to increase the volume control and then decrease it again when the music starts."

"What Hongkong broadcasting needs," says Mr. Charles Sylvia, who won the Philco receiver, "is a good and up-to-date (modern) Announcer. Although this is a British Colony, the listeners are cosmopolitan. If the present Announcers are maintained, the Oxford accent should never be used."

"Announcing," says another entrant—a well-known leader in local musical circles, "should be in a language clear, crisp and conversational. The lady announcing at 11.15 sessions and the gentleman announcing at ZBK are a delight to listen to. The others are mostly unsuitable in front of a microphone."

"New announcers!" demands "J.C." of Causeway Bay. "The B.B.C. gave up female announcers when they left Savoy Hill. In any case, stop pronouncing Cadiz as 'Caydees'; if you want to know, the proper pronunciation is 'Cahdeeth'."

"Mrs. A.C." is equally emphatic about announcers. "Do, please, engage an announcer who is not so tragically bored stiff with life as one of those we have at present," she writes.

"B.W." also thinks that Hongkong's announcers seem bored with their work. "What about 'pepping' them up," she writes. "At present it seems that announcing must be rather boring—it isn't, that is the general expression."

"Miss S.B." suggests how our announcers should go about it: "The Announcer could make comments of interest to listeners when introducing the various items on the programme. These remarks need not necessarily be particularly brilliant or witty, but nothing is more monotonous than the present method of reiterating 'You will now hear two songs by—' or 'Our recorded programme continues with—'. The same applies to studio items. These could be brightened considerably by the announcers' remarks, or 'patter' between numbers."

As for the "Uncles" and "Aunties" of the Children's Hour: "The Children's Hour is painful."

The "Uncles" and "Aunties" are so self-conscious. Someone makes a fatuous remark, then follows an appalling silence, until an "Uncle" coughs nervously and suggests a story or a song—"Don't you think so, Auntie...?" and all the others answer, one after another, "Er... yes, I think so," etc. etc. Surely something can be done about this?"

A well-known local 'talipan' also has something to say about announcers. "In studio concerts the interval between the items is too long, and the breathless state of the announcer's voice gives one the impression that he was not ready, and had to be sent for, to make the announcement."

"G.D.": "With the exception of one female announcer, the announcing is too chilly and expressionless. It should be more soft and melodic. They speak as if they were reading it out of a book; they do it as a matter of business rather than pleasure."

"J.V.R.": The chief faults with ZBW and ZBK are poor announcing and short hours. Give us brighter announcing. This could be done similarly to KZRM, Manila."

"C.B.": (well-known in local entertainment world): Let the Broadcasting Studio employ as announcers people who not only can stammer out the title of items correctly, but can also make the programmes brighter, by adding some personal touches and humour. The rest would be easy."

An Army Officer: "Male announcers are preferable to female announcers." (Many other listeners in similar vein.)

"J.C.": Give us bright and breezy announcements. It's Gloomy-Sunday all the week at ZBW and ZBK."

"N.E.": Announcements are too frequent and too detailed. It is quite unnecessary for the announcer to give the fullest details of each record, both before and after it is played. It is unnecessary, when relaying the Ulster Rifle Band, to mention continuously "By kind permission of so and so" and "Conducted by so and so"—surely the printed announcement is enough? Again, for the Daventry relays, we now get four announcements, detailed ones from the local station before and after the item, a detailed one from Daventry before, and a brief one after.

Wendy Barrie

"I RECKON I OWE TEN TIMES AS MUCH AS I POSSESS"

HONGKONG cinemactress Wendy Barrie has filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy at Hollywood.

She declares: "I reckon I owe ten times as much as I possess," lists debts at approximately £2,300, assets at £200. Her father, Mr. F.C. Jenkin, K.C., died, it will be recalled, under particularly distressing circumstances just over six months ago.

Many people thought Mr. Jenkin a comparatively rich man. Reverse was the case.

During his lifetime in Hongkong he gave considerable sums anonymously to charity.

He launched Wendy, and later Paddy, on film careers.

All of which took money.

Wendy's career started on stage in London, where she appeared in "Wonder Bar".

She "arrived" in filmdom with her performance as Jane Seymour in "The Private Life of Henry VIII".

Went to Hollywood in 1934, signed five-year contract with Paramount films. "Speed", one of her vehicles, was screened at King's Theatre last week-end.

Her best Hollywood performance was with Spencer Tracy in "It's a Small World".

Wendy Barrie was at one time engaged to Willie Donahue, heir to £10,000,000 worth of the famous Woolworth millions. But engagement was broken off because, according to Wendy, "Mrs. Donahue objected because of my youth." Later Wendy's name was coupled with that of David Niven, a handsome former captain of a Scottish regiment.

Wendy is fair, slender, has green eyes. She is five feet four inches, weighs 110 pounds. She intended to visit Hongkong this year.

"FIRST NIGHT'S" FILM REVIEW

Best Colour Film Yet Made

Trail of the Lonesome Pine

QUEEN'S AND ALHAMBRA

Director: Henry Hathaway

Stars: Sylvia Sydney, Henry Fonda, Fred MacMurray

In my judgment this picture points more clearly than any we have had so far to the general use of colour in future story-telling by the screen.

Its action is set mainly in the open air amidst the superb mountain and wood scenery of the High Sierras. Its significance lies in the fact that the colouring really does enhance the dramatic realism of the story.

I am aware that on rare occasions a little red flicker comes into the texture where, presumably, there has been a tiny tear in the delicate surface of the celluloid, and that sometimes the photography of faces does not escape a hint of special lighting.

But the splendour of the colouring is so entirely natural in the circumstances and absorbs so convincingly such simple things as homely hut furniture and plain suits of clothes that it becomes an authentic part of the narrative—which is what of colour must be, of course, if it is to be accepted in screen entertainment as the regular thing.

Two families in the lonely backwoods, the Tollivers and the Fallins, have been racked by feud so long that it is in their blood, though there are only vague memories of how it began.

Sylvia Sydney is the prettiest Tolliver. It is the dream of her cousin, Henry Fonda, that they shall marry. But the girl is fond of him only in a brotherly way.

There arrives Fred MacMurray as the breezy and purposeful manager of the mining operations that are to develop the land upon which the Tollivers and Fallins wage their feuds and make the untutored dwellers rich.

The vigorous young manager comes just in time to cure the girl's sultriness of an injury (a result of the feud) that would have killed him. Their gratitude is rewarded, because he is a stranger attempting terms with the hated Fallins at the same time.

But the girl is attracted, and the rest of the romance is concerned with her ingenious pursuit of him, and with the MacMurray character's half-hearted attempts to fend her off in the interests of her first lover.

We see the feud developing relentlessly among the hills and trees. There are shooting and hand-to-hand fighting staged with a realism that must have been painful to the participants; and Fonda and MacMurray have some first-rate scraps on their own account.

Spanky McFarland, just a toddler, has never been so engaging a figure as he is in this picture.

It will surely increase the demand for the services of this little boy, who looks about three.

Beulah Bondi gives an appealing performance as the mother who laments the nonsensical feud, and Fred Stone is fine, too, as her kindly but feud-impelled husband.

An interesting character is that of the local minstrel, played by a rugged singer with a humorous face who is new to me, Fuzzy Knight.

Apart from the colouring there are no new revelations of the three principals, but they are all good in their respective ways.

The sunburn effect on the complexion which is noticeable here, but in this case it tones naturally with the open-air life.

"IT HAD TO HAPPEN"

George Raft, Rosalind Russell

King's Theatre

It is beginning to be quite apparent by now that "The Thin Man" has a lot to answer for. That delightful mixture of drama and comedy started not so much a cycle as a style. It has been used as a model for dialogue, situations and even players' performances.

This is not a second "Thin Man", and doesn't pretend to be. But it provides Rosalind Russell with a part written on palpably Myrna Loy lines. Miss Russell, with previous experience of the same kind of thing in "Rendezvous", comes through with a very creditable imitation: sophistication, self-possession, wide-eyed calm with a fluttering of the lids to indicate slight surprise in the face of the most nerve-shattering crises.

You might imagine it was Myrna Loy at times—which is high praise of Miss Russell's imitative powers.

George Raft, on the other hand, is his old sombre, determined self. He arrives in America, in company with fellow-immigrant Leo Carrillo, to find a strange country in which the law has a great deal of power.

So he curves himself out a career as a politician (and a surprisingly honest and philanthropic one at that) and falls in love with Rosalind Rus-

WEEK-END PROBLEMS

By Hubert Phillips

PROBLEM I JUST A GAME

"The essence of the game we're going to play," said Mr. Bacon, "is that those playing it are divided into three unequal units. A unit can consist of one person or more—thus, there might be one of us in one unit, two of us in a second, and the rest of us in a third—but no two units may be of the same strength."

"No," said Fatty, who had made a rapid calculation, "there are in fact very few ways. Unless the Eggs join us. In that case the number of possible divisions will actually be quadrupled."

There are six Eggs. How many divisions are there?

NOTE.—This problem is a very simple test of whether you are "problem minded." It looks difficult. But anyone can do it who can count on his fingers and who is able to state clearly what it is that he is trying to find out.

PROBLEM II A SQUARE DEAL

"I take an interest in my two nephews," said my rich friend Oofy. "Every year I spend more on them. This year, for example, I'm spending 50 per cent. more than was the case five years ago."

"How's that?" said I.

"Why," said Oofy, "I take, each year, the square of each boy's age (in years). Then I find the difference between the two squares. That's the number of pounds the boys get."

"How old are the boys?"

"Vimpy is nineteen. Baldwin's age you can work out for yourself."

How old is Baldwin?

Dear Kiddies,

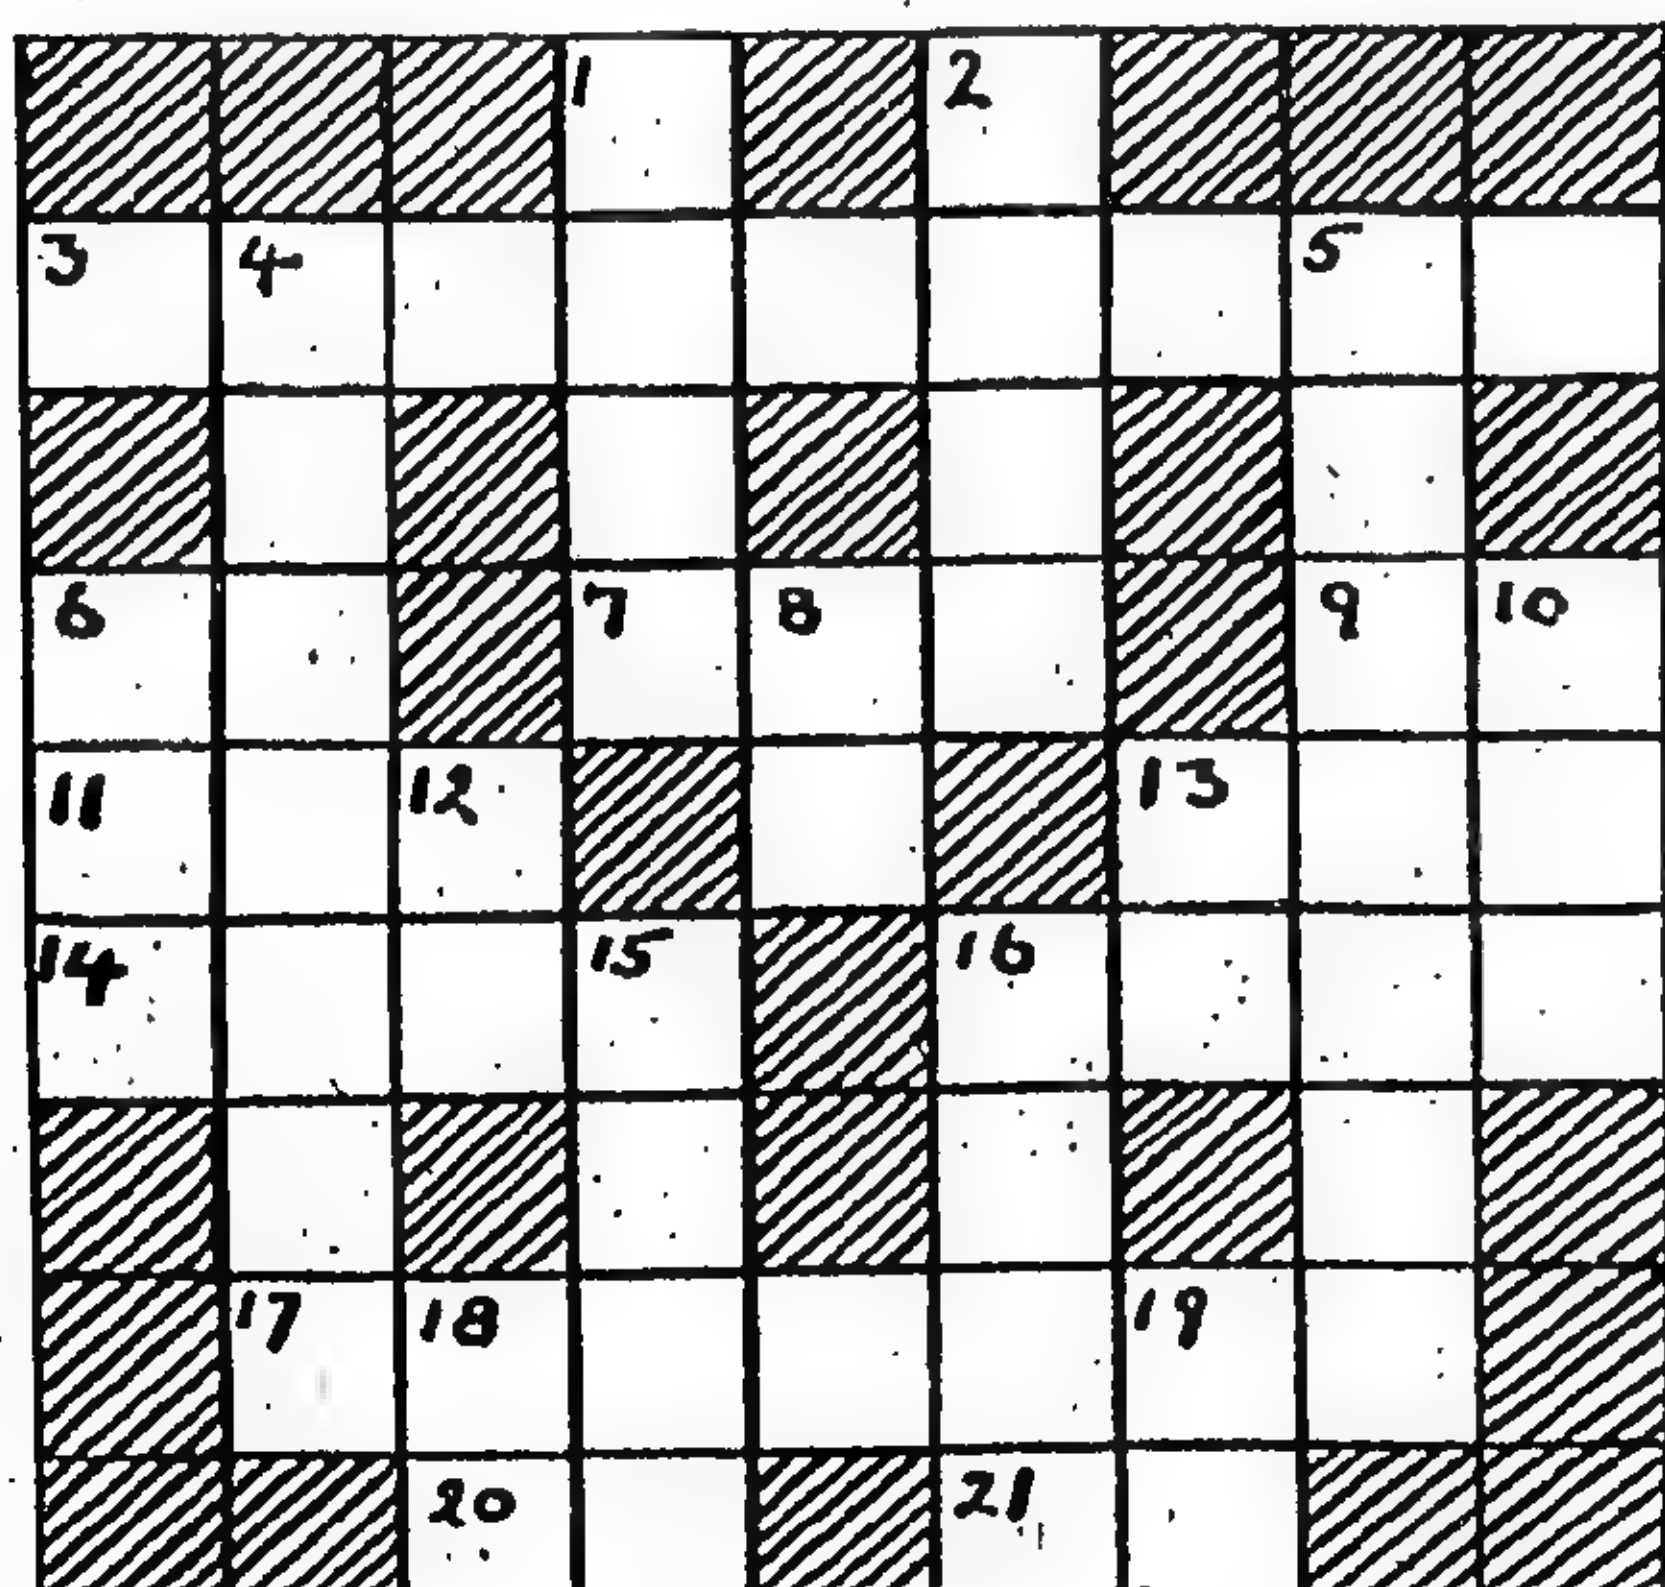

I thought you would like last week's Competition—and, judging by the number of entries sent in, you certainly did. You always do well in painting, and again this time the standard was really excellent. It's not been an easy task judging the many entries, but after taking age into account, as well as correct colouring, I find that the best Senior effort was that of Maureen Chester-Woods (aged 11), of Shamshuipo Police Station. In the Junior Section, the prize goes to Grace Lau (aged 7), 616 Nathan Road. The winners are asked to call at the "Telegraph" office for their prizes. Specially commended for excellent work are the following:—Elsa Laurel, Margaret Choa, Cyril Kotewall, Maisie Law, Pamela Ho, Eileen Smyth and Celeste Marques, amongst the Seniors; and Therese Gutierrez and Joan Guimang amongst the Juniors.

Now, children, I'm giving you another Crossword Competition this week, as you did so well in the last one. And I've got a surprise for you, because instead of games or toys the prizes this week will consist of Cadbury's Milk Chocolate, generously offered by Messrs. John D. Hutchison and Co., Ltd. There will be three six-ounce blocks of this famous chocolate for the Senior winner; and a further three six-ounce blocks for the winner in the Junior Section. At first, I thought of giving a smaller amount for the Juniors, but, feeling that the youngsters have quite as good an appetite for chocolate as the older children, I've decided that they shall have the same quantity! Now, kiddies, do your best to solve the puzzle and win these toothsome prizes.

All entries must reach Uncle Eddie, c/o "Hongkong Telegraph", not later than 4 p.m. on Wednesday. Don't forget to state your age.

teeth that sparkle and charm

You, too, can have them—if you know
this secret about removing film

Brushing with ordinary dentifrices can never give you the gleaming white teeth you envy. Only brushing with an effective film-removing dentifrice can do that. For film is the sticky, gummy coating that forms on teeth, obscures their natural beauty. Even worse, it glues to teeth the germs and acids associated with tooth decay. You must remove that film.

That's why we urge you to use Pepsodent, the special film-removing tooth paste. For Pepsodent contains a cleansing and polishing substance that is unexcelled in removing film from teeth. Yet it contains no grit—nothing to injure tooth enamel. So if you want whiter, brighter teeth remove film the safe, effective way—with Pepsodent Tooth Paste.

CLUSTERS OF BIRDS ON NEW HATS Military "Kepis" For Women

(From Victoria Chappelle)

(who went specially to Paris to obtain an authoritative forecast of the autumn and winter fashions which will be shown in the dress-making houses next month).

Paris, Aug. 12.

WOMEN'S hats are to be higher next season, and the flat crown is to be banished.

This is the result of the move to shorten and widen skirts, a famous milliner told me to-day. Flat hats, she pointed out, look well only with a slim, straight silhouette.

Persian turbans in velvet or felt, with pointed crowns swathed round with twists of coloured velvet, are by far the most attractive of the coming new season's shapes.

These are also giving to milliners an excuse to introduce more colours. There are sometimes as many as four rainbow colourings on a single turban—an effect which would look singularly well with the black coats which will still be fashionable this winter.

A DASHING EFFECT

Not so happy are the new felt "sports" hats, with high, conical, rather narrow, crowns; but women will like some of the new "kepi" hats, inspired by the French soldier's cap.

With the visor made of a thick twine net or feathers, these will set off the new wide-skirted overcoats and give a particularly dashing effect to the silhouette.

The simple idea of a single trimming is disappearing. Hat after narrow-brimmed hat is built up in front with masses of feathers, originally owned by an owl or a pheasant.

One barbaric-looking trimming consists of a cluster of half a dozen tiny birds, placed so that their beaks point in the air. Another is a little bird's head, pathetically supporting a mass of fine veiling.

Birds are very much in the news. In one of the material houses I was shown a woollen coat and dress materials woven with scraps of fine swan feathers.

Materials as a whole are sober. There are fewer colour mixtures and many more fabrics woven with tufts, fringes, and embroidered effects. In self-colours, while surfaces are softer and more velvety than last year.

Colours are very rich and curiously Victorian. There is a red-brown, with a strong tinge of purple, which promises to be the leading colour of the season; some new wine shades; several shades of grey-greens; a dark sombre green, which is almost black in some lights; glowing blues, and many dark, purplish reds.

Doctor Tells: Is Rebuked By Judge

COUNSEL and a doctor were rebuked by Mr. Justice Charles at Leeds Assizes recently—counsel for asking the doctor a certain question concerning a man patient he attended, the doctor for answering the question.

Mrs. Mary Ellen Healy, widow of Daniel Dalton, of Denaby Main, sought to recover from Dr. James O'Donnell, of Warrmsworth, Doncaster, £180, said to be the balance of a loan of £200 made to him by her late husband.

Dr. E. C. Chappell, counsel for Dr. O'Donnell, asked the doctor about his medical attendance on Dalton.

Dr. O'Donnell answered that he had consulted him on a particular subject.

'Sacred Privacy'

The judge then turned to Dr. O'Donnell and said: "I should have thought that this was a matter of the utmost privacy—the most sacred privacy. What do you mean by revealing what ought to be a matter of the most sacred confidence between you and your patient?"

Dr. O'Donnell: I told the solicitor and counsel that I did not desire these matters should be revealed.

Dr. Chappell: Will you take it, my lord, that this witness has nothing whatever to do with my misdirection of the case? The fault is entirely mine.

The judge: Well, all I can say is that it is a very shocking thing for any counsel to have to admit.

NEGUS OFFERED WORTHING HOUSE

WHERE MR. HORE BELISHA STAYS

Worthing, Aug. 10. Elverland, a house at Ferring, where Mr. Hore Belisha, Minister of Transport, has stayed for week-ends since last September, has been offered to the Negus for £8,500.

The house, which has 7 bedrooms and 2 reception rooms, stands in three acres of garden and has a private beach. It is within a short distance of Milbury House, the new £15,000 home of Mr. J. H. Thomas.

Mr. Hore Belisha took the house last September on a short lease.

IRON GUARDS KILL 'TRAITOR' IN HOSPITAL

Bucharest, Aug. 12.

MICHAEL STELESCU, former second-in-command of the Iron Guard, Rumania's secret society of anti-Jew Fascists, was murdered for vengeance to-day as he lay on a sick bed in a Bucharest hospital.

The reason was that he had quarrelled with the Iron Guard.

Steleescu was awaiting an operation for appendicitis, which was to take place to-morrow.

Eight Iron Guard students called at the hospital. They marched to the foot of Steleescu's bed.

Then all eight drew revolvers and opened fire on the defenceless man, crying "Traitor, you must die".

Twenty-eight shots riddled his body.

PATIENTS IN PANIC

Panic followed among other patients. Six people clambered from their beds and rushed from the ward. Their mission fulfilled, the eight students gave themselves up to the police.

Steleescu deserted the Iron Guard eighteen months ago. He founded a political group of his own and started a newspaper, in which he accused the Iron Guard of having assassinated M. Duce, Rumanian Prime Minister, in 1934, and revealed that his own life had been threatened.

Until 1934, Steleescu was a parliamentary deputy.

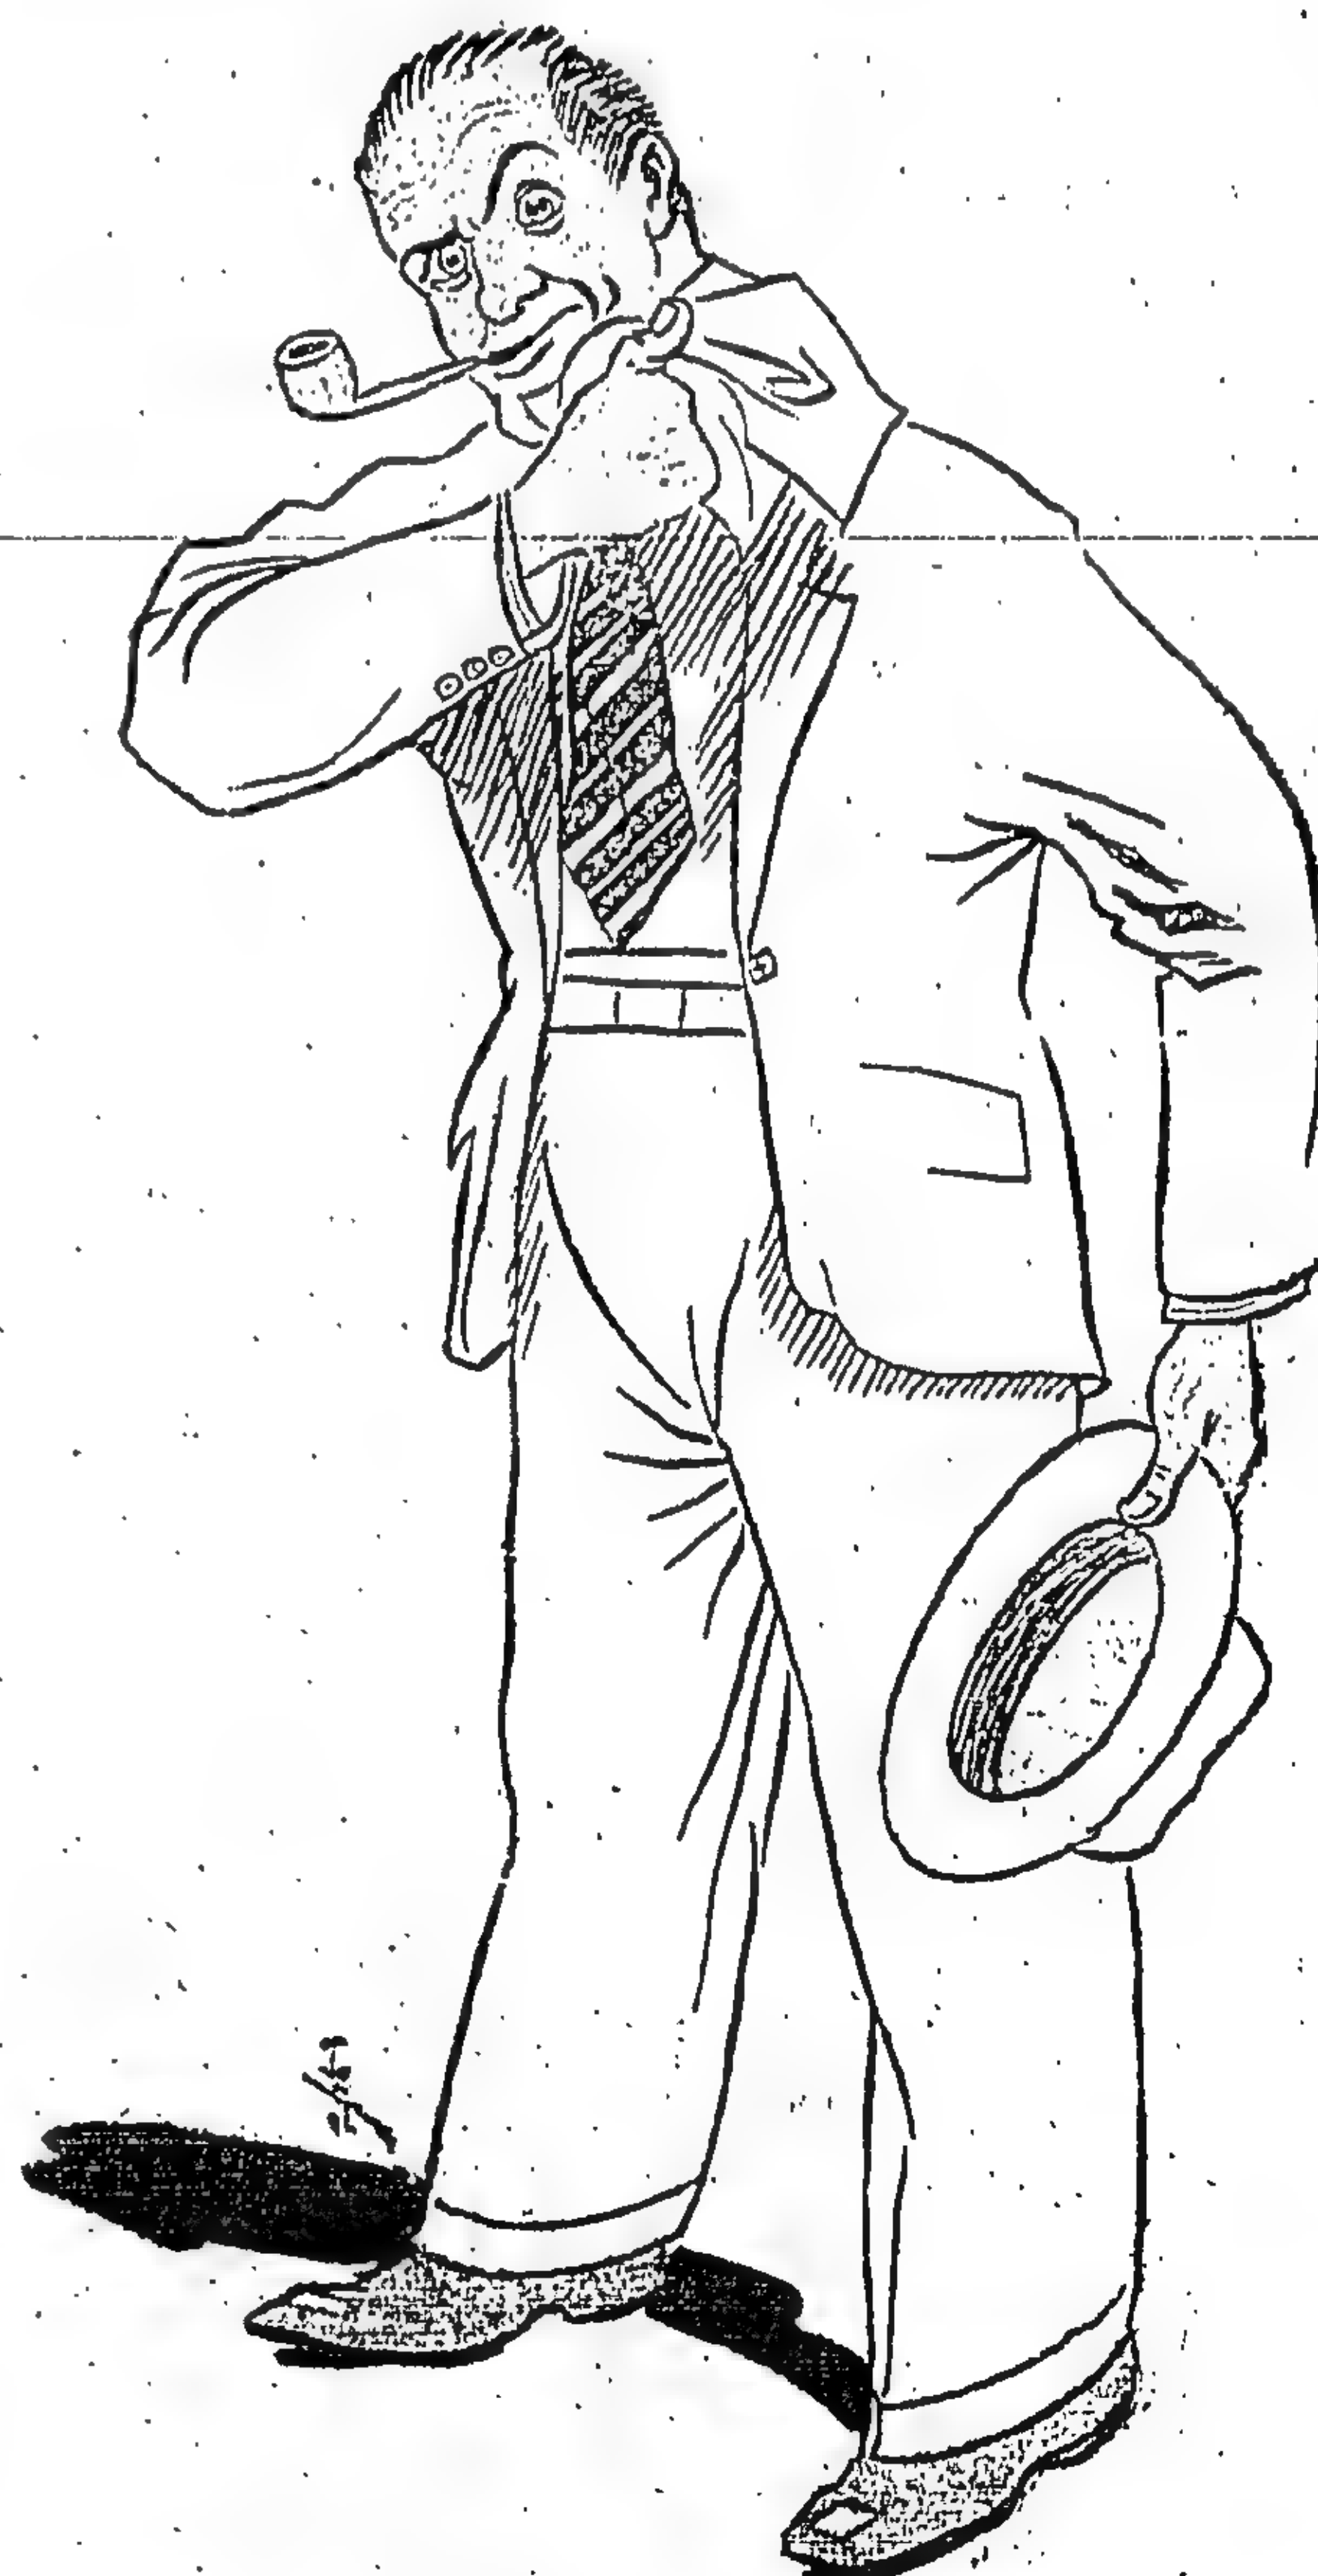

Bucharest is seething with excitement to-night. The military and police are in readiness to deal with the rioting.

Can you touch your toes without bending your knees? Will you be able to do it when you're 76? There is no reason why you should not, if you follow this woman's method of keeping fit. She writes:—

"When I was 63 my wrists and ankles began to swell. I was unable to turn my head round. As I did not care to qualify for the chimney corner, I decided to try Kruschen Salts. I have taken it regularly for ten years, and I have good health. I walk two miles or more each day, and can easily touch my toes without bending my knees—which I think good considering I shall be 76 in two months' time. Only to-day I was asked how I managed to keep looking so well. I replied, 'I am a Kruschenist.'—(Mrs.) E. M. P.

There is one sure, safe way to keep yourself regular inside—the "little daily dose" of Kruschen Salts. Kruschen is a scientific combination of six mineral salts which keep your eliminating organs in proper tune, and so clear away the waste matter that clogs your system and poisons the blood.

(By W. R. G. Smith)
Sunday Express

NOW is the time, my football friends, when I travel many miles round the countryside, paying the first calls of the season on the directors, managers, and players who will be responsible for providing us with entertainment for eight months, starting on August 29.

FOOTBALL ITEMS*MILLS RETURNS
SOUTH*Old 'Hammer' Joins Luton Town

Luton Town have secured from Glasgow Celtic the transfer of Hugh Mills, who had four seasons with West Ham before returning to Glasgow for last season.

C. P. Quayle, an inside-forward, formerly with Shrewsbury Town, and last season with Drumscondra F.C., has been signed by Crystal Palace.

T. Burdett, the inside-forward Fulham secured from Hull City last season, has signed for Lincoln City. Mansfield yesterday signed on O. H. Jones, a tall goalkeeper, from Watford.

West Bromwich Albion have appointed Sandford captain in succession to Madden.

SCOTTISH STAR FOR DARTFORD

Bobby Gardiner, the well-known inside-forward of Dundee United, who refused the club's terms at the end of last season, yesterday signed for Dartford, the Southern League club.

Gardiner, although only 5ft. 5in. and less than 10st., was one of the cleverest forwards in the Scottish Second League. His departure for the South will cause much surprise in Dundee, as he was training with his colleagues at Tannadice this week and was expected to sign up before the opening day. He has been with United three seasons.

Northfleet have signed R. Morgan, centre-forward from Merthyr Town, previously with Wolverhampton. Turbridge Wells have added to their playing staff J. Blake, left-half from Q.P. Rangers.

SOUTHALL RECRUITS
FORWARD FROM HARWICH
A NUNHEAD HALF-BACK

Southall F.C., whose Cup performances provided the big sensation in last season's amateur campaign, have started team-building with a view to breaking more records.

They have signed on L. Gillespie, from Harwich and Parkstone, a clever inside-right who has represented Essex, and T. Holton, a Surrey county player who has assisted Nunhead for the past two seasons. Holton will take J. Poxon's place in the half-back line. Poxon recently signed for Hayes.

R. Ellis, the Enfield full-back, has joined Wealdstone. A Middlesex County player, he will sit in the front of the amateur international A. W. Loveday, who recently transferred from Leyton. Ellis has previously assisted Golders Green, and was a member of Park Royal's London League championship side.

Brilliant Young Golfer

London, Aug. 2.

D. J. Rees, the young Welshman who is employed by the Surbiton Club, won the Assistant Professionals' Golf Championship for the second year in succession yesterday, on the Moseley course he finished with an aggregate of 278 for 72 holes—a brilliant performance which beat his average of 71 per round at St. Ann's a year ago.

The Moseley course exceeds 6,000 yards in length and has a standard scratch score of 74. Rees had three rounds of 69 and one of 71—returns which are eloquent of his skill.

He won by three strokes from H. E. Osborne, of Addington, with Ernest Whitcombe's son and Max Faulkner tying for third place.

There was some remarkably low scoring in the concluding rounds of the Daily Mirror prizes. The professional record for the course of 68 set up on Wednesday by G. N. Rolfe was once beaten and twice equaled.

In the final round Faulkner did a 68 and Osborne a 68, while H. B. Rhodes, of Wentworth, also returned 68 for the morning round.

IDEAL TRIAL

Uniformity of control by Soccer referees and linesmen is to be an accomplished fact in the near future, presumably this coming season, though I have been unable to discover what lines it will take.

The practice games later in the month would provide an ideal trial under match conditions, and give those responsible a chance to revise their ideas wherever necessary.

After all, it is too great a problem to expect perfection at the first attempt. I can imagine some warm arguments before we find a settled state.

ASKED FOR IDEAS

Some of the various sections of the Referees' and Linesmen's Association have been asked for their ideas on the whole subject. And if they have found a way out of the confusion of old, football has a more peaceful season ahead.

Certainly a successful system of control will be some compensation for the shelving of the two-referees plan, though nothing the referees themselves can do will satisfy the advocates of goal judges. I cannot imagine any system that may be evolved ending the everlasting goal disputes.

Mr. Charles Sutcliffe, president of the Football League, in a pre-season message to the Lancashire Referees' Association, emphasises how anxious the governing bodies are to reach an understanding.

"Linesmen ought to know what is expected of them in all matches, no matter who the referee is," he declares.

UNDIGNIFIED

What are the linesmen to think when they find one referee giving an instruction to them to claim foul when the ball goes over the line; another telling them to "Leave the penalty box, to me, as it is far too important for you to interfere with," and a third saying, "We are three referees. Claim for everything."

There can only be one referee, but the linesmen are there to assist. There is nothing more undignified than to see a linesman's frantic flag-waving completely ignored by the referee, and nothing so upsetting to a football crowd.

GOLF
'NATIONAL'

England's amateur golf team, after having shown the best form during the first two days of the four-handed International tournament at Prestwick, failed, as they usually do, against Scotland, who thus retain the championship once again.

The Scots finished with three victories and no defeats, against England's two wins and one loss, but England won 32 individual games to 13, while Scotland won only 22, to 10, Ireland finished second with one win, Wales losing all their matches.

Scotland owed their victory to their two youngsters, Hector Thomson and Jack McLean, who won both four-somes and singles against their English opponents. Thomson was 3 under 4's in beating Cyril Tolley, and McLean, against Harry Bentley, did the first six holes in 4 2 4 3 3, going out in 33 and turning 5 up.

SCOTLAND v. ENGLAND

(Scotland won by 8 points to 7).

FOURSOMES

HARBOUR TRAGEDY GAS BUOY MISHAP INQUEST

An inquiry into the death of two men, Edward Alexander da Silva and Kwong Chok, who died at the Government Civil Hospital on July 16 and July 17 respectively, through the result of injuries received when an explosion occurred in the Fairway at Ing Buoy in the Southern Harbour at noon of July 16, was conducted by Mr. S. P. Balfour at the Central Magistracy yesterday.

The jury comprised Mr. H. P. Stoneham (Foreman), Mr. P. L. Lorrain and Mr. Wong Fat-kan.

Inspector Andrew represented the Harbour Office.

Evidence was first given by the medical officer in charge of the Government Civil Hospital, Dr. K. H. Utley, who said that about half-past one on July 16, two patients, Mr. E. A. da Silva and Kwong Chok, who were suffering from serious burns, were admitted to the hospital for treatment. The injuries of da Silva were more serious, and he died at 5.25 p.m. the same day. Kwong Chok was also in a serious condition, but lived until the next day, when he died at 11.30 p.m. The post-mortem examinations revealed that Mr. da Silva had extensive burns all over the surface of the body, while there was a cut on the left side of the head and hand. Half of the body of the Chinese was burned. There was no sign that either of the deceased was suffering from organic disease.

Mrs. M. E. da Silva, the widow, said she identified the body of her husband on July 17, in the presence of Dr. Utley.

The body of the Chinese was identified to be Kwong Chok, by Mr. W. J. White, lighthouse keeper.

Mr. J. P. Whitefield, sub-inspector of lighthouses, gave evidence that on the morning of July 16 he instructed Mr. da Silva to go to the Southern Fairway Buoy and the Central Fairway Buoy to check the gas pressure of the acetylene cylinders, which was done to ascertain when it would be necessary to recharge the cylinders.

The deceased left the Harbour Office with two of his assistants, Kwong Chok and Kong Yue, at 11 a.m. and proceeded by launch to the Southern Fairway Buoy for the inspection.

Explanation of Mishap

Witness first heard of the accident on his return from lunch, and went immediately to the buoy and made a thorough inspection, to find if possible the cause of the accident. On his arrival, the light was still burning and no apparent damage had been done to the buoy. The door of the superstructure and the man-hole cover were open. He entered the buoy and inspected the gas pipes and joints, which were all secure. None of the pipes had burst or carried away, and there was no trace of leaking gas. The buoy had been laid on April 28, 1936, and had been closed up since that time till July 16, the date of the accident.

Witness went on to say that the cause of the accident was apparently that the buoy had not been aired before entering, and a small layer of foul air or gas hanging around the top of the buoy was probably ignited by someone in the near vicinity who was smoking. This was confirmed by the presence of a half-smoked cigarette, which was found lying inside the superstructure of the buoy. He said that the quantity of foul air or gas in the buoy must have been small, as there had been no damage to the buoy, also the men would have smelt the gas and taken the necessary precautions. Mr. da Silva had been examining buoys for thirteen years, and was a conscientious worker. There was a regulation prohibiting the use of any naked light during the examination of any buoys, and the deceased knew that very well.

Survivor's Evidence

Kong Yue, the other assistant, corroborated the first part of Mr. Whitefield's statements, and added that on their arrival at the buoy, he and the second deceased were given instructions to open the man-hole of the buoy. Mr. da Silva then went to inspect a buoy in the Central Fairway, and on his return gave a helping hand to open the hole, which was stuck fast. When it was opened, Mr. da Silva descended into the hole, and came up soon, saying that there was a smell of gas inside. Witness handed him one of his cigarettes, and Mr. da Silva once more entered the hole of the buoy. As he came up for the second time, witness saw a flash and heard a loud explosion. Deceased was then only half way out of the buoy. Witness jumped into the buoy and swam to the launch. Kwong, the second deceased, was standing near the entrance of the man-hole.

Sergeant David Davies of the Harbour Office gave evidence that he went to the scene of the explosion and found that the buoy was covered with blood and burnt clothing. He also found a cigarette lying on the buoy. He later went to the Government Civil Hospital, where he obtained a statement from the Chinese who died in the explosion, which stated that he was a lighthouse keeper and that on July 16 he went to the Southern Fairway Buoy with Mr. da Silva under the latter's instructions. The man-hole was opened, and Mr. da Silva descended into the buoy, and on his return complained about the smell of foul air. He asked for a cigarette, and was given one by Kong Yue. He lit it, and once more went into the buoy. He was half-way out of the buoy when the explosion occurred. The man also stated that the explosion was caused by Mr. da Silva's smoking on the buoy.

Summing up, Mr. Balfour said that no blame for the accident could be put on the public, and the explosion was chiefly due to the carelessness of Mr. da Silva, the deceased. The jury returned a verdict of death, through misadventure.

A VARIETY CONCERT

TO AID SOCIETY OF ST. VINCENT DE PAUL

A grand variety entertainment is promised in the very near future, when the Hongkong Portuguese Amateur Artists present "The Million-Airs on Parade."

The concert is to be held on two nights. The first performance will take place at the Club de Recreio on Sunday, September 6, and the second at the Craigflower Cricket Club on Saturday, September 12, commencing on both nights at 9.15 p.m. Dancing will follow at the conclusion of both performances.

Tickets, which are sold at one dollar, are now obtainable from the different members of the Portuguese community and from Mr. J. F. Tavares, c/o Messrs. Rolis, Bradley & Co., Ltd.

Owing to a printer's error a slight discrepancy occurs on the tickets, which should mention that the entire net proceeds of this show are to be donated toward the funds of the local Society of Saint Vincent de Paul.

Moscow Money Plotters Receipts Found In Reds' H.Q.

Jerusalem, Aug. 10.

SEVEN Arab terrorists were killed and one wounded in a sharp engagement with British troops near Jenin this afternoon. One soldier was slightly wounded.

Royal Corps of Signals linesmen were attacked while repairing a telephone wire. They summoned aid; troops of the Loyal Regiment were rushed to the scene and trapped the Arabs who, however, continued firing.

During the past few days terrorists have shown increased activity, and are now attacking villagers who refuse to aid them. Rigorous measures, however, are now being adopted by the military authorities and police in Palestine to prevent the rebels from putting their plans into effect.

While an intensive search for hidden stores of arms and ammunition is proceeding in the hills, in Jerusalem and other centres, pedestrians are continually being stopped and searched for bombs, revolvers and other lethal weapons.

The fine work of Palestine detectives in tracking down Communist agitators was crowned recently by the discovery of the "territorial headquarters" of the Communist Party in the northern quarter of Tel Aviv.

The direct connection of this organisation with Moscow, where instructions concerning the disturbances have been received, was established by the finding of documents from the Department of Near East Propaganda in Moscow.

The papers included the counterfoils of receipts for large sums of money.

Some of the documents were written in a secret code and others in invisible ink.

Information received by the police resulted in a cordon being flung round a house after suspects had arrived. The police waited for half an hour and then, entering, surprised the occupants holding a meeting in a small, stuffy back room.

All the occupants were arrested and imprisoned, together with a man found keeping watch outside the house.

Girl Plotter Of 16

Information obtained resulted in further searches and arrests at midnight, the suspects including a girl of 16.

There were several "surprise" arrests of people hitherto unsuspected of any connection with Communism.

This action, it is believed, has dealt a strong blow against Communist incitement which obviously has been partly responsible for the recent intensification of terrorism.

Incidents to-day included the throwing of a bomb at the house of the Mayor of Bethlehem, a sniping attack on the military camp at Tulkarm and the firing of shots at patrols in the Jenin, Birch and Latrun areas.

Aeroplane dropped leaflets on Arab villages, stating: "If you wish to avert a heavy burden of taxation, you should help to restore normal conditions and observe the law. You stand to lose all the savings of the past few years."

Died In Sight Of Homeland

Manila, P. I., Aug. 20.

Pedro Napal knew he was dying, as doctors in the United States had told him so. He wanted to return to his native Philippines to die.

When Uncle Sam began sending Filipinos back to the Islands under the Repatriation Act, Pedro applied for passage and boarded the President Lincoln with 120 of his countrymen.

The ship arrived at the breakwater in Manila Bay and stopped for the customary quarantine. Pedro gazed at the low skyline of the Philippine Capital and at the mountains rising up behind.

Then death closed his eyes. A few minutes later the ship docked and his fellow repatriates walked onto their native soil.—United Press.

HE INVENTS MAGIC

Northampton, Aug. 10.

WITHOUT a single day's training a young man here invents tricks and other forms of wizardry for world-famous magicians.

His name is Mr. Eric C. Lewis, and he receives so many requests for inventions that he now devotes all his spare time to meeting these demands.

"I shall not turn professional," he said to-day, "because I prefer to remain in the background, and concentrate more fully on inventions for others." Payment varies according to the value of the invention. "Those of an absolute exclusive type fetch many pounds."

Mr. Lewis—although only 27—has already written a number of books on magic.

For Palestine Typist Who Became Sultan's Bride: Rumours Denied

THE TWO CENTRAL FIGURES IN A FAIRY TALE COME TRUE HAVE ARRIVED IN BRITAIN.

They are the Sultana and Sultan of Johore; richest rulers in the Malay Straits.

They are spending a happy holiday in London seeing their special friends, but avoiding, as always, interviews and publicity. A few years ago the inhabitants of Kilmarnock, Scotland, were amazed to hear that a typist who had once worked in their midst was suddenly to marry one of the richest and most powerful rulers in the world.

Miss Helen Bartholomew, a typist in Kilmarnock, married Dr. Brockie Wilson, who was afterwards appointed medical adviser to the Sultan of Johore.

The marriage was not a happy one and after a divorce the Sultan renewed his friendship with Mrs. Wilson during a visit to England, and this friendship ripened into deep affection.

At last he proposed, Mrs. Wilson accepted. There was a simple ceremony at Woking, followed by a honeymoon on the Continent.

The coronation was staged in Johore.

A close acquaintance of the Sultana told a London newsmagazine that rumours that the couple were

Drift To The Isles

The daughter of a Scottish shipping magnate is to make her home on Shuna, an island off the mouth of Loch Melfort, Argyllshire.

Miss Allan, of Dundas Castle, Callinnes, has bought the island, on which stands a mansion which cost £230,000 to build.

An Essex woman recently bought three islands in the Outer Hebrides.

unhappy have never had the slightest foundation. In fact, the couple are absolutely devoted to each other, this friend said. "They have come to have a quiet holiday," he added.

HEAT HUMIDITY AND HEADACHES

DON'T let Headaches lower your powers of resistance. Two or three 'ASPRO' Tablets, taken with a drink of water, will banish most Headaches in a few minutes. It's a mistake to think that because it's hot and humid you must endure a Headache. Even the most healthy suffer at times; heat, sun-glare, humidity and sleeplessness all help to reduce physical resistance, with the result that a Headache attacks you. 'ASPRO' will quickly clean it up before it has time to sap your vitality, make you listless, irritable, nervy and out of sorts. 'ASPRO' relieves in a perfectly soothing way, and is not harmful, because it is a pure medicine, containing no questionable or dangerous antidotes. Keep 'ASPRO' in the house to check Colds, Influenza, Rheumatism, Dengue, Neuritis, etc. It is safe insurance against everyday summer ills; it gives quick, certain relief and does not harm the heart.

Decadent "Bright Young Things"

COCKTAIL-LIFE
AND PAGANISM
DENOUNCED

"DECADENT 'bright young things' who are the forerunners of gloom and disaster"; "a section of the community whose life consists of cocktail and sherry parties, cabarets and midnight revelries"—
These were denounced recently as a
"danger to the State" by the Rev. Ensor Walters, the Methodist preacher, in his presidential address at the Methodist Congress at Newcastle-on-Tyne.

FLAUNTING VULGAR LUXURY
He contrasted the victims of unemployment—
underfed children, weary women, and broken men —with "the ostentatious and vulgar luxury which often flaunts itself in the West End of London."
"Let these people be warned," he said. "For we live in stern times. Every patriot must seek to build a community based on brotherhood and humanity."

All complacency should be banished, he continued, in face of the surging tide of materialism, the prevalence of a new paganism, and the breakdown of the Lord's Day.

The title of the address was "The Methodist Church at the Cross Roads," and the speaker pleaded for the adventurous spirit of Methodism in its greatest days.

SOCIAL POLITICS NO CURE
"If," he said, "we substitute for spiritual fellowship and for the prayer and class meeting, theatrical displays and worldly entertainments, and turn our churches into social clubs, our days may be numbered."

"Not 'right' or 'left,' but straight forward is the only policy for our Church," he declared.

During his address Mr. Walters made an indirect allusion to the reports of a forthcoming united peace move by English-speaking Methodists to which attention was drawn by Mr.
Hugh Redwood in a recent article.

"Would that the United States and the British Commonwealth of nations could stand together in an effort for world peace," he said. "If, led by such an alliance, a World Peace Conference could be summoned, I believe the dread fear of war would pass away."

Jessie Matthews Aids Unlucky Dancer

INA SCARLETT, ATTRACTIVE 22-YEAR-OLD BRUNETTE, WANTED TO BE A FILM STAR.

For twelve years she practised dancing for several hours every day. Her one ambition was to dance as well as famous Jessie Matthews—her ideal.

Eighteen months ago her dreams were suddenly shattered.
She stumbled over an iron "sill" at a stage entrance during a performance of "Jill Darling" and broke her arm.

When the plaster was removed she could not move her arm.
Her career as a dancer was ended.

To-day Ina Scarlett is acting as "stand in" for the star whom one day she hoped to rival.

Recently I found Miss Scarlett on the set at the Gaumont British Studios, Shepherd's Bush, wistfully watching Jessie Matthews dance in "Head Over Heels," the film she is now making, says a Film Correspondent.

I asked her if it was true that she would never dance again.

"Quite true," she said. "I am finished as a dancer."

JESSIE'S DOUBLE

"Miss Matthews gave me this job because of my resemblance to her. I like the work, but I feel I would like to do something bigger."

"For months now I have been trying to get straight parts in films.
But so far I have not succeeded.
It is all very discouraging."

I asked Miss Scarlett what she had done with the £3,250 she received as damages for the injury to her arm.

"I have put it away," she said.
"There may come a day when I shall need that money badly."

WANTS ANOTHER CAREER

"But I would rather have a good left arm than all the money in the world. My dancing meant so much to me."

Miss Scarlett seemed very certain about one thing.

"I WANT TO MAKE ANOTHER
CAREER FOR MYSELF BEFORE
I MARRY," SHE TOLD ME.

As I left the studio, Miss Scarlett went back to her favourite corner,
where she could watch Jessie Matthews dance her way through another "take."

Girl In Green Pyjamas Shot Dead In Storm

New York, Aug. 15.

CLAD in green-silk pyjamas and in an attitude suggesting that she had been slain on her knees while begging for her life, Helen Cleveland, aged 19, a beautiful blonde student at New York University, was yesterday found murdered in her hotel room at Asheville, North Carolina.

A violent thunderstorm was raging at the time of the crime.

Miss Cleveland went to North Carolina to spend a summer holiday with two uncles.

One of them, Professor William Cleveland, was staying in the hotel with his niece. Knocking at her bedroom door yesterday morning at breakfast time, he got no reply.

He opened the door and peeped in.
A moment later he was in the corridor crying, "Look into my niece's room."

It was found she had died from a bullet through the breast. Her face had been mutilated with a sharp instrument. A doctor reported that she had been criminally assaulted.

Nothing in the room had been stolen. The only entrance for the murderer was through the girl's door, which was probably open as a relief from the intense heat. Her bed had not been slept in.

People in the hotel report hearing a pistol shot in the early hours of the morning. On a table near the

467 KISSES IN A DAY

Hollywood, Aug. 10.

MISS Andrea Leeds, a film star, finds kissing for her living an arduous task.

She is appearing in the new film "Come and Get It," and today she was rubbing her lips, exclaiming: "No more romance for me just yet."

The script clerk reported that Miss Leeds was kissed 467 times during the tests.

Mr. Howard D. Hawks, the director, wants to find a young man capable of giving Miss Leeds the right quality kiss to stir the emotions of filmgoers.

First he put Mr. Francis Shields, the one-time tennis champion, at the job from 9 a.m. to noon. Mr. Bob Lowrey took up the running after lunch. Finally, Mr. John Payne was tried out.

body was the girl's unfinished diary
recording the day's events and mentioning the kindness of all whom she had met on her visit to the south.
